Part II-B, Line 1i	Explanation of Other Lobbying Activities	We retain a local firm to follow arts- and non-profit-related issues in the State General Assembly and executive branch. For a monthly retainer, the firm reports on budget, legislative and regulatory items that could affect funding, legal requirements and operations. From time to time, the firm also advises on actions we might take regarding various legislative and regulatory issues for the benefit of the cultural community. We use this information both for Arts Council purposes as well as to keep our constituent arts and heritage organizations apprised of state issues that might affect them. Line (g) No Arts Council employees are assigned to lobbying activities. However, occasionally staff will testify at a legislative hearing about a particular issue and interest to the arts community.
