990 Part III, Q4a- Pt I	Statement of Program Service Accomplishments	INTRODUCTION Mission and Charitable Purpose In 1852 the Sisters of Charity, physicians, and community members established, out of a former boarding house, the first Catholic hospital in the area Good Samaritan Hospital was among the earliest efforts to address the needs of the growing city of Cincinnati Over ten years ago the Sisters of Charity joined with other religious congregations to form Catholic Health Initiatives, a national system The purpose of Good Samaritan Hospital has always been to provide care with compassion The mission is to improve the health status of the community through a full range of health related services- prevention, wellness and education Good Samaritan Hospital and Bethesda, Inc formed a partnership in 1995 to create a local health system TriHealth, Inc TriHealth has a board of directors comprised of independent community representatives Good Samaritan Hospital, with its partner Bethesda, both acute tertiary teaching hospitals, form with the rest of TriHealth a system of services from acute care to home care, from babies to seniors Good Samaritan provides, among other services, a 24-hour emergency room, four intensive care units for neonates and adults, adult and geriatric inpatient psychiatric units, and an accredited rehabilitation medicine program Services are open to all individuals regardless of ability to pay Good Samaritan Hospital has an open medical staff and a long history of training and educating medical residents and health care professionals Its medical and scientific research programs include studies that are not commercially sponsored Good Samaritan Hospital participates in Medicare and Medicaid and other government-sponsored health care programs, and has an active charity care program Good Samaritan was granted tax exempt status as a hospital on March 25, 1946 Community service is central to Good Samaritan Hospital's mission Services such as those described in this report, and others not listed here, promote a healthy community Programs also seek to reduce the burdens on the government For example, if Good Samaritan Hospital did not address the root causes of low birth weight and prematurity, the burden to government medical programs such as Medicaid would be even greater If Good Samaritan did not have a Palliative Care consultation service, physicians, families and patients with advanced or terminal illness might struggle with or avoid treatment decisions and utilize costly, non-beneficial interventions instead of opting for care matched to patient prognosis, wishes and needs Community Benefit Approach Located in Cincinnati, OH, Good Samaritan and the TriHealth system serve Hamilton, Butler, Warren and Clermont counties, as well as persons from Indiana and Kentucky Ohio's third largest metropolitan area, Cincinnati has an estimated population of 333,336 The population within the four Ohio counties served by TriHealth is estimated to be 1,614,997 and ten to twelve percent of this population is uninsured Community health needs, as assessed within the last three years by independent groups such as the Greater Cincinnati United Way the Health Foundation of Greater Cincinnati, continue to correspond with the TriHealth community needs assessment completed in 2004 The significant health needs for the greater Cincinnati area are infant mortality, obesity, depression, hypertension and diabetes Two major strategies are in place to address infant mortality and diabetes The remaining community health needs receive the organization's expertise and focus through ongoing hospital and physician practice initiatives Hamilton County's infant mortality rate of nineteen percent, the highest in Ohio, led Good Samaritan to create a task force and collaborate with other hospitals and agencies including the Cincinnati Children's Hospital Medical Center Strategies include investigating the root causes of prematurity and low birth weight At the same time, practical programs of prenatal care for at risk mothers are in place and are discussed later in this report The TriHealth Community Health Initiative for Diabetes, led by the TriHealth physician practices and outpatient clinics with diabetes educators, focuses on the ongoing management of diabetes The chronic care model focuses on patient education and empowerment Physician practices track effectiveness in care delivery through measures such as the hemoglobin A1C, a measure of the patient's diabetes self-management Good Samaritan, as a part of TriHealth, has dedicated staff to assist the community benefit effort including those overseeing the planning, reporting and tracking of community benefit, as well as those providing direct service to the poor and broader community
