QUESTIONS REGARDING COMPENSATION	PART I, LINE 5A	Physicians are paid a bi-weekly salary or draw At the end of each quarter, their YTD compensation is compared to what their actual YTD production was Each charge generated has a Work Relative Value Unit (RVU) assigned to it The total number of work RVUs generated are then compared to a grid that TCHMA developed Based on where the physician hits in annualized work RVU production, the physician is credited with a percentage for charges generated This percentage is taken and multiplied against charges generated If this number is greater than what the physician was paid bi-weekly (plus any other bonus payment made within the fiscal year), the physician gets the difference If at the end of the fiscal year, the physician is in a position where the compensation paid is more than what is computed, they owe that money back to TCHMA
