4a (Code:) (Expenses $ 615,485. including grants of $) (Revenue $)

Patient Care:

GLHF advances the comprehensive care for people with bleeding disorders through its support of an integrated regional network of hemophilia treatment centers through a grant from HRSA. The design of the hemophilia treatment care network provides patients with access to multiple disciplines, each of which has specific expertise in bleeding disorder care. The hemophilia model has been one of the most successfully managed public health programs in the United States. The substantial socioeconomic benefits of comprehensive services for the hemophilia population are well documented and include increased employment, fewer days lost from work and school, decreased hospital

4b (Code:) (Expenses $ 276,759. including grants of $) (Revenue $)

Research:

GLHF supports the systematic coordinated assessment and recording of health outcomes of individuals with bleeding disorders in a national database through a grant from the CDC. The database currently holds information on 25,108 individuals, including 78,388 clinic visits, and is the largest repository of hemophilia outcome data in the world. This data provides critical information for the design of randomized clinical trials that are generating evidence-based approaches to the management of hemophilia care, identifies gaps in the evidence-based knowledge that underlies clinical practice, and serves as a valuable basis for framing clinical research questions with the goal of

4c (Code:) (Expenses $ 145,478. including grants of $) (Revenue $)

Public Education:

GLHF supports a comprehensive network of health professionals and patients & their families in providing public education about bleeding disorders. Health care professionals - through the federal grant supported regional network - educate teachers, coaches, emergency room personnel, dentists and other individuals who provide support to individuals with bleeding disorders to ensure safe and healthy outcomes for their patients. In addition, GLHF volunteers attend health fairs and other events to heighten the public's understanding of bleeding disorders and the symptoms to encourage women, in particular, to seek medical support for otherwise appointments.

Educational scholarships and camp scholarships require application by individuals. Educational scholarship recipients must send verification of acceptance by the educational institution. Scholarship awards are sent directly to the institution. Recipients are required to submit semester-end grades to complete the process and be considered for future assistance. Camp scholarship requests are submitted prior to camp. GLHF works with the various bleeding disorders camps to verify participation in camp. Camps submit invoices directly to GLHF. GLHF makes payments directly to the camp on behalf of the individuals.

Financial support is provided to individuals to assist with basic living needs in extraordinary circumstances. GLHF requires household income statements and verification of outstanding bills to consider assistance appropriateness and assistance level. In most instances payments are made directly to a service provider or support is provided through gift cards to grocery stores.

The federal grants are administered to the specifications and requirements of HRSA and the CDC. Staff has frequent contact with grantees and reports are required. Payments are made when invoices are submitted by the grantees. A full accounting of the grant is submitted with the required level of detail to the governmental agencies at the end of the year.

Educational scholarships are also made available to assist individuals with bleeding disorders gain meaningful education which in turn leads to job skills that will allow them to gain employment with health insurance benefits.

Individuals with challenging financial situations may apply for financial assistance through GLHF. Many individuals with bleeding disorders are at or just above the federal poverty levels. GLHF provides assistance to ensure individuals with bleeding disorders can retain health insurance coverage by assisting with COBRA payments, application fees to state high risk insurance plan options and insurance premiums. In addition, funds are available to assist with medical bills and basic living needs.

GLHF is committed to assessing regional training needs and provide training opportunities in its role as the regional core center. As the regional core center, staff provides technical assistance with hemophilia treatment center staff training using a variety of techniques. New personnel training is carried out: 1) by staff exchange; 2) through on-the-job training by other team members during team meetings and clinic using a defined set of demonstrated skills and knowledge; 3) at professional meetings; 4) at the CDC sponsored Partners Program and/or Provider Shadow Program; and 5) through contact with other professionals on a state, regional, and national level. For new staff, documentation of achieved knowledge and skills is carried out at the local level for all disciplines except physical therapy. Physical therapists are tested-out on their UDC range of motion measurement skills at the regional meeting.

As the regional core center, GLHF is also committed to helping experienced staff update their knowledge and skills by providing ongoing opportunities for professional training and growth. These opportunities include, but are not limited to, sponsoring staff attendance at the annual NHF meeting, providing discipline-specific symposia, and biennial regional meetings. In 2009, the Region V-West hosted a regional meeting in Milwaukee, Wisconsin. This conference provided a forum for medical updates, a venue for the exchange of ideas, an opportunity for joint problem-solving, a setting for the sharing of resources, and the impetus for the development of collaborative programming.
