National Emergency Assistance (NEA) primary purpose is to aid, support and work with Tennessee Valley Authority & FEMA in providing assistance to state and local governments as well as the citizens of such geographic areas in preparation for, during or following major natural disasters or other federally declared emergencies. Under the federal response plan, all government agencies are required to provide workers and assistance to FEMA whenever and wherever a major disaster or emergency is declared. Due to TVA's staffing constraints, TVA utilizes NEA workers (who are former or retired TVA employees) to provide the required and necessary assistance to save lives, protect property, public health and safety prior during and following major natural disasters or other federally declared emergencies. As former TVA employees, NEA staff is highly trained. NEA provides these workers at a cost effective rate thereby reducing the burden of government. In addition, NEA also supports other charitable organizations that share the same goals of NEA. NEA provided 136 staff augmentation employees through TVA to FEMA in 2009. We worked in 19 states on 26 different declared disasters.
