Summary of Direct Charitable Activities

Direct Charitable Activities	Expenses
The Foundation's mission is to educate the public regarding world and national history by making a collection of historic maps available for public viewing. Maps will be on display in universities, libraries, museums, hotels, and other public spaces. It is the hope of the Foundation, in the future, to purchase or lease permanent exhibition space. The duration of each exhibit will be approximately two weeks to six months. No admission will be charged for the exhibits and the Foundation will pay for any transportation and insurance costs.	$ 39,640.

From September, 2006 - January, 2007, the Foundation lent various maps to the University of California San Diego for its exhibition, "Making Place: Early Maps and Atlases." They were able to be used for class assignments in one of UCSD's largest core courses, "The Making of the Modern World." Additionally, the timing of the exhibition coincided with a symposium hosted by the UCSD Department of History that focused on trade and the development of international markets in the medieval and early modern periods.

Further, the Foundation is exploring imaging projects for the map collection to benefit University research.
