Identifier	Return Reference	Explanation
Part II, Line 9	Description of How Organization Reports Conservation Easements	Previously, a parcel of property was donated to the University of Hawaii by the Estate of Jean Charlot with a stipulation that the Historic Hawaii Foundation be given a preservation and conservation easement to assist in preserving and maintaining the property and its architectural, historic, and cultural features for the benefit of the people of Honolulu. Preservation easements are legally binding documents, which require that historic properties are preserved and maintained. The responsibility of the Foundation, as holder of the easement, is to review any proposed changes to the house to assure the changes do not affect the historical integrity of the building. The Foundation is also charged with making sure the building receives appropriate maintenance and repair, however, the University, as owner of the house, will decide how it is to be used and will be responsible for financing its preservation. The easement provides the Foundation with a vested real property interest in the property that was not recognized in the accompanying financial statements because a major uncertainty exists about the existence of value, and the easement has no alternative use.
Part V, Line 4	Description of Intended Use of Endowment Funds	Historic Hawaii Foundation (HHF) holds three endowments, totaling $560,995. The Bretzlaff Foundation Endowment ($225,000) was established in 1998 to provide support for the operations and activities of the Historic Hawaii Foundation. The HHF Endowment ($15,495) provides support for the operations and activities of the Historic Hawaii Foundation. The Hawaii Preservation Fund Endowment ($320,500) was initiated in 2008 under an agreement with the National Trust for Historic Preservation to create a dedicated funding stream for preservation projects in the Hawaiian Islands. The agreement provides for a mutual fundraising campaign to raise funds for annual grants that support cultural heritage preservation efforts, and for related technical assistance and support by HHF. The Endowment will be held by and administered by the National Trust at the conclusion of the fundraising campaign. Pledges receivable at December 31, 2009 included $100,000 related to the Hawaii Preservation Fund Endowment, which is due in annual installments of $50,000 through 2011.
