29.Services Provided: Training

In 2009 Jet City Rollergirls on average provided between 6-12 hours per week of on skates training for the sport of roller derby. The training included organized practices and scrimmages for the 5 league teams as well as a "boot camp" for women interested in joining the sport. We are currently offering 32-40 hours of on-skates training/month.

The team practices focus on the skills required for playing the sport of roller derby at a national and international level including endurance, speed, power, agility, balance, strength, and flexibility. Skaters are trained on how to hit, fall, maneuver, and work with one another as a team and within the rules of the sport.

During our boot camp program skaters are trained over the course of 8-10 weeks on the basics of skating. They have the opportunity to participate in up to 12 hours per week of skating under the guidance of our league coaches. At the end of the program they are eligible to try out for our league teams but are not guaranteed placement.

It is our goal to be able to compete and be competitive in the WFTDA regional and national U.S. tournaments beginning this year (2010) and every year thereafter. In order to reach that goal we need to increase our on skates training hours as well as increase the number of competitions we play against leagues both within and outside our region.

In 2010 we also plan on running 2-3 more 8-10 week boot camps in order to keep our teams full of qualified, competitive roller derby skaters.

30.Services Provided: Education and Instruction

On average 1-2 hours/week of education and instruction was provided to boot camp participants, league members, and the general public through verbal teaching, written documents, and visual demonstration on the rules, training, and sport of roller derby. This includes but is not limited to basic skating skills, falls, balance/agility, skating with others, blocking, rules, etiquette, strategy, gear, and general female athlete wellness. It is our goal to continue this education and instruction at its current level in 2010.
