Initially, the Health Improvement Institute is focusing on assisting with the execution of the proposed strategies outlined in the Transformation Grants awarded by the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS). One of the principal strategies to be addressed is the migration of primary care in West Virginia to the medical home model of care delivery. The Institute is initially being staffed by the project team assisting the Bureau of Medicaid Services with the implementation of these grants. A key focus of the Institute is to help position West Virginia as a leader in the adoption of the medical home model.

The State's Medicaid program is striving to improve the quality of life for Medicaid members by emphasizing prevention, personal responsibility, and coordinated health care. To achieve coordinated care and preventive care, we must promote a more patient-centered approach to the health care delivery, with each member having a medical home where their care can be better planned, coordinated and managed, using state-of-the-art concepts in medical management including evidenced-based medicine, electronic health records, a team approach to care delivery, and integrated clinical reminders.
