Part III, Line 1a		Collections of works of art, historical treasures and similar assets are not capitalized in as much as the items are preserved and cared for continuously. Purchases of collection items are reported in the year of acquisition as decreases in unrestricted net assets, or in temporarily or permanently restricted net assets if the assets used to purchase the items were restricted to that use by donor stipulation. Contributions of collection items are not reported in the financial statements. Proceeds from disposal of and insurance recoveries related to collection items are reported as increases in the appropriate net asset classes. The Freedom Center's collections consist of historical manuscripts, art objects, microfilm, photographs and costs of digitization. They are subject to a policy that requires proceeds from the disposition of collection items to be used to acquire other collection items.
Part III, Line 4		The Freedom Center's collections consist of historical manuscripts, art objects, microfilm, photographs and costs of digitization. The collections are used to educate the public about the historic struggle to abolish human enslavement and secure freedom for all people. The Freedom Center teaches lessons of courage and cooperation from Underground Railroad history to promote collaborative learning, dialogue and action to inspire today's freedom movements.

If the asset's carrying value is greater than future estimated cash flows, a provision is made to write down the asset to the estimated net recoverable value. In 2009, management determined that the primary museum facility had been impaired based on estimated future cash flows. The Freedom Center recorded an impairment loss of $42,200,000 in 2009.
