Teachus Mission Accomplishments for 2009

Teachus Mission International Christian Academy (TMICA)

Our mission school in Guinea has entered its sixth school year with an enrollment of seventy-four native Guinean children. This is the first boarding school ever opened in the Republic of Guinea. All the students were provided with residence at the dormitory, three meals a day, school uniforms, school materials, and all the other necessary services such as health care.

Students from all over Guinea were selected with a simple IQ test and an interview. They are given an American system of education with the goal of raising future leaders. They are growing in knowledge and truth.

There are two cohorts of students who have finished their third year and sixth year March of 2009. In the 2009 to 2010 academic year which begins in July, they were to begin their fourth and seventh year at TMICA. However, Guinea Ministry of Education decided TMICA could not open for the 2009 to 2010 academic year without giving specific reasons as to why. Students were sent home to attend local public schools and TMICA closed for the 2009-2010 academic year in compliance with Ministry of Education request.

Missionaries in Guinea

Pastor Joshua Kim is the director of TMICA. He and his wife Sarah are serving as long term missionaries there. Beside the school project, they are planting a church in Manya village where they have their residence with their three children, Chelsea, Caleb, and Christa. They minister to the Maninka tribe.

In addition to the Manya Village Ministry, as the director, Pastor Joshua Kim also supervises the mission work of short-term missionaries and other volunteers and native workers at TMICA and Sambouya village.

Chris Lee served his third year as a missionary and teacher. He lived in Kabaya village to serve their physical and spiritual needs as he develops relationships with them.

Mr Benjamin, a native worker and minister, serves the physical and spiritual needs of the Sambouya villagers. He had been trained by Pastor Joshua Kim.

Additions to TMICA

The computer lab is expanded and students have more opportunities to learn typing and use educational programs.

A guest house and office building construction project was completed in 2009.

Other construction projects are ongoing at TMICA and plans to add a Junior High School wing to accommodate the new growth of students is underway.
