INDEPENDENT AUDITORS' REPORT

Board of Directors
The Refractories Institute
Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania

We have audited the accompanying balance sheets of The Refractories Institute (a nonprofit corporation) as of March 31, 2010 and 2009 and the related statements of activities, changes in unrestricted net assets and cash flow for the years then ended. These financial statements are the responsibility of the management of the Institute. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based upon our audits.

We conducted our audits in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that we plan and conduct our audits to obtain reasonable assurance that the financial statements do not contain material misstatements. An audit includes the examination, on a test basis, of evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes an assessment of the accounting principles and significant estimates used by management, and an evaluation of the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audits provide a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, the accompanying balance sheets and statements of activities, changes in unrestricted net assets and cash flow present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of The Refractories Institute (a nonprofit corporation) as of March 31, 2010 and 2009 and the results of its operations for the years then ended, in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles.

1. SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Estimates - The preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles requires management to determine certain estimates and assumptions that affect the amounts reported in the financial statements and notes to financial statements. Actual results may differ from the amounts reported based upon those certain estimates and assumptions.

Accounting method - The management of the Institute has adopted the accrual basis method of accounting; consequently, revenue and the related assets are recognized when earned, and expenses and liabilities are recognized when the obligation is incurred. Institute publication costs are recorded during the period in which the costs are incurred, however, inventories of unsold publications are not recorded and not reported.

Cash and equivalents - The Institute considers all highly liquid investments with no restrictions on redemption to be cash equivalents.

Investments - The management of the Institute has elected to adopt the provisions of Financial Accounting Standards Board Statement No. 124, Accounting for Certain Investments Held by Not-for-Profit Organization. All investments are reported at market value. Unrealized gains or losses in the market value of securities are included in the statement of activities.

Accounts receivable - The Institute does not record an allowance for uncollectible dues receivable.

Equipment - Equipment is stated at cost. Depreciation is computed using the straight-line method applied to estimated useful lives of the assets. Accumulated allowances for depreciation of equipment sold or retired are eliminated from the accounts upon disposition.

Expenses - Management has elected not to adopt the provisions of Financial Accounting Standards Board Statement No. 117, Financial Statements of Not-for-Profit Organizations, regarding the presentation of expenses classified on a functional basis, and will continue to report expenses by natural classification as reported in prior years.
