Form 990, Part III, line 3	Changes in Program Services	The Common Cents Financial Initiative was designed to test an affordable and scalable alternative to payday lending in Kentucky. The CCFI worked with employers to offer financial education and the Save It! Loan, an affordable loan with a ten-month payback period and an automatic savings component. After the launch of the CCFI in 2007, 410 loans totaling $133,350 were made, likely saving borrowers $175,000 in charges that they would have incurred through payday loan outlets. Auto-deductions placed $66,650 in consumer savings accounts. More than 1,200 people were exposed to financial education materials through the program. While the structure of the demonstration program proved unviable for MACED and we decided to wind down the pilot rather than expanding the demonstration, we captured learning from this effort that should benefit other organizations interested in offering an alternative to payday lending. We published our findings in the report Designing an Effective and Viable Alternative to Payday Lending. Lessons from the Save It! Loan.

Form 990, Part VI, Section B, line 11		The first level of review of the Form 990 is by MACED's operations and finance director (corporate treasurer), who provides the preparer with the information for the return and works closely with the preparer to ensure its accuracy and completeness. The MACED president reviews the form before signing it. The board's finance committee also reviews the Form 990. Following the finance committee review, the Form 990 is distributed to the board electronically before it is submitted to the IRS.

Form 990, Part VI, Section B, line 15		Annually, the MACED president is evaluated through a process guided by the board executive committee, composed of the board officers (chair, vice-chair, board treasurer and board secretary). The executive committee reports its findings to the board in closed session. After considering the committee's report, the board sets the president's compensation for the following year. The board takes into account compensation levels reported on Forms 990 for the CEOs of three to five comparable organizations as well as its knowledge of compensation of positions in the private and nonprofit sectors with comparable levels of responsibility, qualifications and achievement. The president does not participate in or vote on the decision on the president's compensation. The board's decision on compensation is recorded in minutes which are presented and approved at the following board meeting. This process last took place in 2009. The president determines the compensation of other staff, including those who serve as corporate officers, following an annual performance review of each staff member. Along with considerations of equity among staff, the president takes into account compensation levels reported on Forms 990 for officer positions in three to five comparable organizations and his knowledge of compensation of positions in the private and nonprofit sectors with comparable levels of responsibility, qualifications and achievement. Every change in a staff salary is documented in a letter to the staff member.
