PART III, LINE 1 - MISSION STATEMENT		A private university in Pittsburgh's suburban hills, Robert Morris University provides academic excellence with a professional focus. With 60 career-oriented undergraduate degree programs and 20 masters and doctoral programs to choose from, RMU is dedicated to working with students to build foundations for career success. About 5,000 full- and part-time undergraduate and graduate students from nearly every state and 40 countries are enrolled. RMU is a teaching-centered institution, featuring small classes taught by professors and a student-faculty ratio of 15:1. The university has long enjoyed an excellent reputation in the business fields of accounting, finance, marketing, and management. Today the university's five schools offer programs in communications, information systems, actuarial sciences, engineering, mathematics, science, education, social sciences, pre-medicine, and nursing. The beautiful, 230-acre residential campus is a short drive from the bustle of downtown Pittsburgh, with its myriad cultural offerings and excellent internship and career prospects. RMU stresses engaged learning with its Student Engagement Transcript, which records and rewards work outside the classroom, including community service, research, study abroad, and internships. It is indicative of the RMU commitment to career preparation, and helps explain why 92 percent of graduates have jobs or attend graduate school within six months of getting their diploma. The university is growing in many ways: full-time faculty has doubled in less than a decade. RMU is building a new business school building with a simulated stock trading floor, and a new apartment-style residence hall. Students and alumni enjoy cheering on the university's 23 NCAA Division I sports teams, which have won numerous league titles. Visiting international scholars and a variety of opportunities to study abroad -- for a semester or just a few weeks -- enrich our students' global perspectives. Above all, at RMU students have a private university education that is still one of the most affordable in Pennsylvania.
