Part X, Line 2:

On July 1, 2009, the Association adopted the accounting standard on accounting for uncertainty in income taxes, which addresses the determination of whether tax benefits claimed or expected to be claimed on a tax return should be recorded in the financial statements. Under this guidance, the Association may recognize the tax benefit from an uncertain tax position only if it is more likely than not that the tax position will be sustained on examination by taxing authorities, based on the technical merits of the position. Examples of tax positions include the tax-exempt status of the Association and various positions related to the potential sources of unrelated business income tax (UBIT). The tax benefits recognized in the financial statements from any such position are measured based on the largest benefit that has a greater than 50 percent likelihood of being realized upon ultimate settlement. The Association has reviewed that tax positions for the open tax years (current and prior three tax years) and has concluded that no provision for income tax is required in the financial statements. As of June 30, 2010, there were no unrecognized tax benefits identified or recorded as liabilities.

Environmental Health: Promote policies that improve indoor and outdoor air quality by increasing awareness about how air pollution (including diesel emissions) affects lung health.

In 2010 we supported educational/awareness activities to limit idling by diesel vehicles and equipment and urged local and state government to adopt public contract requirements that require the use of cleaner diesel construction equipment. We also worked to limit pollution by coal-fired power plants throughout Illinois. We called for action to reduce air pollution from transit vehicles, including diesel buses and locomotives, and initiated community-based awareness activities to inform local residents about risks to their lung health. Federal lawmakers were asked to support funds to clean up diesel vehicle federally funded projects, and strategies to address global warming and
