4a (Code) (Expenses $ 348,976 including grants of $ 8,800) (Revenue $ 156,784)

The TEAMS program is an annual high school competition challenging students to work collaboratively and apply their math and science knowledge in practical, creative ways to solve real everyday engineering challenges. Its objective is to inspire high school students to consider engineering as a career choice. The 2010 TEAMS Competition provided nearly 10,000 students, in grades 9 - 12, the opportunity to discover their potential for engineering. Competitions were conducted at 119 sites (locations) with a 3% increase in the number of participating teams and students. The program implemented new participation levels, 9/10 and 11/12 grade levels to better accommodate a wider range of student participants. The rankings and award structure was also revamped to include "Best in State" accomplishments and "Best Overall" national awards. Pre- and post-assessment instruments revealed TEAMS effectively shows students the real-world applications of math and science, raises student confidence in their ability to participate in engineering activities, inspires students to consider engineering majors and careers, removes social barriers and negative attitudes about engineering, and promotes collaboration and problem-solving in a team environment.

4b (Code) (Expenses $ 359,987 including grants of $ 292,234) (Revenue $)

UNITE - A program that prepares and motivates students historically underrepresented in engineering for success in college through summer academic programs. The objective of this program is to provide a college engineering experience for high achieving high school students that are historically underrepresented in STEM fields. 506 students impacted, 8 program locations, provided hands-on activities to all sites, implemented pre and post program assessments.

4c (Code) (Expenses $ 96,824 including grants of $) (Revenue $)

The National Engineering Design Challenge (NEDC) is an annual design competition in which students, in grades 9 - 12, put their creativity and problem-solving skills to use and create a workplace assistive technology device for a person with a disability. The objective of this program is to help high school student see how engineers make a difference in the world. The 2010 NEDC program provided 1400 high school students from 255 schools a design-build, cross-curricular engineering program highlighting how engineers make a difference in the lives of people with disabilities. The participants are a diverse group with over one-half being young women. As college-bound students, the NEDC lets them combine their interest in engineering with work in the local community to discover their career potential. The top five finalist school teams were brought to Washington, DC to present their device in front of a panel of judges for national level awards and prizes.

4d Other program services (Describe in Schedule O) See also Additional Data for Description
(Expenses $ 124,099 including grants of $ 14,000) (Revenue $ 34,405)

4e Total program service expenses $ 929,886
