Change in Accounting Principle

Land trust organizations in the United States use several different methods to account for conservation easements since U S GAAP does not provide specific guidance on accounting treatment From its inception SAHC has maintained an accounting policy that calls for the capitalization of conservation easements received by donation at estimated fair market value, and the capitalization of conservation easements purchased at cost

In recent years SAHC has been evaluating the appropriateness of this policy Specifically, it has become concerned that the effect of recording in income and in assets the very large dollar amounts associated with conservation easements could be leading to financial statements that are not as reflective of the organization's financial activities as they could be The organization also noted that, while the valuation of conservation easements may be based on independent appraisals, those values are inherently subject to a wide range of interpretation Further, it felt that the practical effect of holding conservation easements is to incur ongoing costs for the associated stewardship work

During its 2010 financial statement close, SAHC determined that another accounting treatment for its conservation easements would be preferable Under this new, non-capitalization policy, which is widely used by other land trust organizations, easements received by donation will not be recognized in assets or in income, and easements purchased will be expensed Management believes that this method will result in financial statements that more accurately reflect the financial results of the organization's activities

Consistent with the accounting requirements for changes in accounting principle, the accompanying financial statements for 2010, as well as the comparative information for 2009, have been prepared on the basis of the new policy The cumulative effect of the change is reflected as of the beginning of the earliest period presented, that is, as of June 30, 2008 The effect of the change was to reduce assets and net assets by $50,435,829, representing the asset value of the conservation easements that had been capitalized to that point in time under the accounting method used previously

I. Overall Stewardship Philosophy

LTA Standard 11: Conservation Easement Stewardship

The land trust has a program of responsible stewardship for its easements.

A land trust that accepts and holds conservation easements commits itself to their annual stewardship in perpetuity, to enforcement of their terms, and to building positive landowner and community relationships to support the land trust's conservation programs and enforcement actions. A land trust that fails to do so may eventually lose its credibility, could cause its easement program to be invalidated, may erode public confidence in easements, and ultimately risk the protection of the land. Not all land trusts have the capacity to hold easements in perpetuity and may achieve their conservation goals through partnerships with other organizations, fee ownership or other conservation methods. These practices will help ensure that the conservation values protected by conservation easements are sustained over time.

LTA Standard 12: Fee Land Stewardship

The land trust has a program of responsible stewardship for the land it holds in fee for conservation purposes.

Many land trusts own land in fee for a variety of conservation purposes, and must take care of these properties. Failure to manage and monitor the property could lead to loss of or damage to the property's conservation values, injury to visitors, or even loss of the property itself. A land trust that does not care for its holdings will lose credibility. A land trust should also make contingency provisions for its land in the event it can no longer fulfill its stewardship obligations.

Southern Appalachian Highlands Conservancy is dedicated to upholding its legal and community obligations to safeguard the conservation easements it accepts and fee simple properties it owns for as long as SAHC holds such conservation easements or owns such properties

Following all relevant Land Trust Alliance Standards and Practices, SAHC will consistently administer its conservation easements and fee simple properties and build strong relationships with easement landowners. While ensuring the conservation values are preserved, we aim to be viewed as accessible, efficient, and trustworthy by both our landowners and the community. We believe that a good relationship with landowners, not enforcement, is the best immediate and long-term method to guarantee the integrity of conservation easements is preserved.

Relating to conservation easements, our stewardship program is designed to

- 1 Work with landowners to ensure that the purposes of the conservation easements are achieved
- 2 Establish good relationships with owners of conserved land and serve as a source of valuable information to landowners
- 3 Provide timely, responsive service particularly as it relates to review and approval of landowner requests
- 4 Ensure that violations do not occur or if they do they are voluntarily corrected
- 5 Provide foundation for legal enforcement of conservation easement, if necessary

Relating to fee simple preserves, our stewardship program is designed to

- 1 Ensure protection of each property through regular visits by staff, volunteers, and/or leasers
- 2 Identify conservation values and apply active management techniques to best protect those values in accordance with a management plan for each property

Overall Stewardship Philosophy adopted by SAHC board June 14, 2009

II. Land Management Committee

Land Management Committee Mission and Responsibilities

Adopted by the Land Management Committee February 25, 2009

Committee: Land Management Committee (LMC)

Mission: To serve primarily in an advisory role to the SAHC Stewardship and Conservation Planning Director and the SAHC Stewardship Program, not including Roan balds management activities. The SAHC Stewardship Program aims to meet and exceed all Land Trust Alliance (LTA) Standards and Practices. The stewardship program will in every way possible insure the promise of protection that is made with each land transaction, and serve as a resource to owners of ecologically important land for advice and assistance on land management challenges. The stewardship program will also incorporate active management of the land that SAHC holds in fee simple. The Land Management Committee will also participate in management and education activities.

Goals:

- Promote responsible land management practices on SAHC fee simple and conservation easement properties
- Educate landowners on responsible land management practices
- Strengthen the SAHC Stewardship Program to assure it is meeting and exceeding all LTA Standards and Practices
- Make recommendations to the Board of Trustees on violation, amendment, and other stewardship issues, as they arise

Chairperson: Kevin Caldwell

Membership and Responsibilities: LMC membership is composed of volunteer members, SAHC board members, and the SAHC Stewardship & Conservation Planning Director. Responsibilities include

- Act as an advisory resource to staff on specific land management matters
- Advise the activities of the SAHC Stewardship Program to assure that it is achieving the overall organizational stewardship goals, guided by LTA Standards and Practices
- Review and recommend land management policies, guided by LTA Standards and Practices, to the Board of Trustees
- Establish strong resource/educational/outreach component of stewardship program
 - Develop materials and/or events to effectively communicate responsible stewardship practices to landowners and the public, such as stewardship newsletter articles, topic-based resource pages for landowners, on-site stewardship demonstrations, etc
- Identify and obtain necessary funding for Stewardship Program activities
 - Determine strategy for sustainable funding of SAHC's stewardship program needs
 - Reduce property taxes on SAHC properties to the extent possible
 - Determine varied means to increase SAHC's stewardship endowment
- Evaluate Conservation Easement Program
 - Perform analysis of costs and implications to SAHC of accepting a CE
 - Determine what information SAHC needs to know before doing any CE transaction
 - Examine/evaluate/revise SAHC's model CE from a Stewardship perspective
- Deal with violation and amendment concerns as they arise and make recommendations to the Board on actions to take
- Participate in fee simple lands management, including identifying conservation values, management concerns, goals, and timelines. Review of land management plans. If committee members wish, they may perform or assist with natural resource inventories on properties
- Identify opportunities for further land management on fee simple or conservation easement properties

Committee Meetings: Minimum of four times per year, with additional meetings occurring as necessary. A minimum of one Board member, plus one SAHC staff member and one additional committee member is required for an official meeting to occur and official actions to be taken. Meetings may occur in person, by telephone and/or by internet.
SAHC Stewardship Policies and Procedures

Reporting: All official actions will be reported to the Board at the next scheduled Board Meeting.

Chairperson Activities

- The Land Management Chair will facilitate meetings and will work with staff to set agenda items prior to each meeting.
- The Land Management Chair will work with staff to recruit new committee members, if necessary.

Stewardship Staff Activities

- Responsible for assuring that the LMC meets regularly as planned or as needed in order to carry out the responsibilities outlined above.
- Working with the LMC Chair, the Stewardship & Conservation Planning Director is responsible for preparing an agenda for LMC meetings, which will be circulated to LMC members prior to the meeting.
- Responsible for implementing SAHC's program of managing conservation easements and land owned by SAHC. The Stewardship & Conservation Planning Director is the primary contact for landowners and volunteers.
 - Maintain and develop stewardship program policies, consistent with national LTA Standards and Practices.
 - Implement stewardship of SAHC conservation easements, including preparing baseline documentation reports for all SAHC conservation easements, ensuring annual monitoring of each conservation easement, preparing written monitoring reports, maintaining strong relationships with landowners, and managing stewardship correspondence, files, reports, and archives.
 - Prepare or coordinate the preparation of management plans for land owned by SAHC. Periodically update management plans. Implement or coordinate implementation of management plans on SAHC owned lands.
- Present violation and amendment concerns to the committee as they arise.
- Manage stewardship resources, interns, and volunteers.
- Ensure LMC committee members are familiar with the organization's stewardship program.
- Prepare updates on the organization's stewardship matters and present them to the LMC.

Committee members shall operate within the guidelines of SAHC's Conflict of Interest Policy. All committee activity will be governed by this document.

III. Land Stewardship Administration

LTA Standard 12.E: Land Stewardship Administration. The land trust performs administrative duties in a timely and responsible manner. This includes establishing policies and procedures, keeping essential records, filing forms, paying insurance, paying any taxes and or securing appropriate tax exemptions, budgeting, and maintaining files.

SAHC's Stewardship and Conservation Planning Director and Financial Compliance Specialist will jointly perform administrative duties pertaining to fee simple and conservation easement stewardship. The Stewardship and Conservation Planning Director, with the approval of the Land Management Committee and Board of Trustees, will establish administrative policies and procedures. The Financial Compliance Specialist will pay insurance and taxes on SAHC's fee simple property. Both staff members will keep essential records, file forms, and maintain budgets and files.

Land Stewardship Administration adopted by SAHC board June 14, 2009

IV. Easement Drafting

LTA Standard 9.E: Easement Drafting Every easement is tailored for the property according to project planning (see 8G) and identifies the important conservation values protected and public benefit served, allows only permitted uses and or reserved rights that will not significantly impair the important conservation values, contains only restrictions that the land trust is capable of monitoring, and is enforceable

Good stewardship begins with the drafting of the easement document and is made possible in perpetuity through allegiance to the original conservation values. The easement document should in general be consistent in language, simple to administer, and require few individual landowner contacts, while reasonably meeting resource and landowner needs at a level that can be sustained perpetually. When addressing special issues and drafting special provisions, the following guidelines should apply:

- A Limit the use of new “non-approved” easement clauses and “creative” special provisions to those resources that are truly outstanding and those circumstances that are truly unique
- B Minimize the number of potential stewardship contacts by limiting the number of separate ownerships, using pre-approvals, and excluding from the easement area any buildable sites or non-standard activities that the owner wishes to continue
- C Provide guidelines (height, location, mass) for an allowed activity rather than subjective standards (“unreasonable” or “undue impact”) Use performance standards (state the goal, and allow flexibility to reach the goal) when possible
- D Consider discretionary approval provisions (written approval at the holder’s sole discretion) in order to prevent easement obsolescence, limit amendments, meet unforeseen circumstances, and adapt to changing conservation practices
- E Limit restrictions concerning activities which are outside the holder’s “core competency” and require consulting with outside professionals, i.e. foresters, biologists, etc
- F Avoid restrictions of activities that (a) cannot be monitored and enforced, (b) provide marginal resource benefit for significant stewardship commitment, or (c) dictate specific easement management prescriptions rather than broader management requirements

Easement Drafting adopted by SAHC board June 14, 2009

V. Stewardship Endowment, Legal Defense, and Fee Lands Funding

LTA Standard 11.A: Funding Easement Stewardship The land trust determines the long-term stewardship and enforcement expenses of each easement transaction and secures the dedicated or operating funds to cover current and future expenses. If funds are not secured at or before the completion of the transaction, the land trust has a plan to secure these funds and has a policy committing the funds to this purpose

LTA Standard 12.A Funding Land Stewardship The land trust determines the immediate and long-term financial and management implications of each land transaction and secures the dedicated and or operating funds needed to manage the property, including funds for liability insurance, maintenance, improvements, monitoring, enforcement and other costs. If funds are not secured at or before the completion of the transaction, the land trust has a plan to secure these funds and has a policy committing the funds to this purpose

A Funding Mechanisms

1 Up-front Contribution (from landowner)

Using the stewardship calculation sheet described below, speculative costs for monitoring, management, maintenance, enforcement, and/or legal defense of an easement or fee property will be calculated and presented to the landowner prior to closing. It will be conveyed that SAHC's preference is a donation at the time of closing. If the landowner is unable to contribute at that time, other arrangements may be made, including an installment pledge agreement, a bequest, or a transfer of stock. Grant sources may also be sought for supplemental funding.

2 Transfer Fee

In addition to this initial contribution, an easement document (as applicable) may have a transfer fee agreement clause incorporated into it in order to provide supplemental funds for SAHC's endowment at the time of any future fee simple transfers of conserved properties.

3 Special Grants

Grants to fund specific stewardship activities, such as land management on fee simple properties, are occasionally sought by SAHC.

B Stewardship Calculation Sheet—The purpose of this sheet is to capture, based on previous organizational experience and the characteristics of the easement or fee property, the costs of monitoring, managing, and defending each easement or fee property in perpetuity. The formulas in this sheet will be amended from time to time to reflect contemporary practices as well as current inflation rates and returns on investment.

C Fund Titles—SAHC shall maintain the following separate funds, each with a specific purpose:

1 Stewardship Fund—Pooled monies from easement and fee simple projects primarily used for legal defense in the necessity of litigation to defend an easement (or in rare cases, fee simple property). This money is also available for stewardship activities relating to conservation easement and fee simple properties, including annual monitoring costs, amendment proceedings, regular landowner contact throughout the year, and fee simple management.

2 Interest on Stewardship Fund—Monies available as a primary funding source for regular stewardship activities relating to conservation easement and fee simple properties, including annual monitoring costs, amendment proceedings, regular landowner contact throughout the year, and fee simple management.

3 General Operating—The General Operating Budget funds regular stewardship activities relating to conservation easement and fee simple properties not covered by the Interest on Stewardship Fund.

D Determined Investment Policy--The Stewardship Fund is to be invested in income-producing accounts in an attempt to earn income at the rate calculated in the Stewardship Calculation sheet. At no time should Stewardship Funds be used to cover any other SAHC costs.

E Future Plans -- In the near future, SAHC plans to assess in detail the yearly financial needs for SAHC Stewardship Policies and Procedures.

stewardship programs and create a plan to raise these funds

Stewardship Endowment, Legal Defense, and Fee Lands Funding adopted by SAHC board June 14, 2009

Updated from 1996 version.

VI. Baseline Documentation

LTA Standard 11.B: Baseline Documentation Report For every easement, the land trust has a baseline documentation report (that includes a baseline map) prepared prior to closing and signed by the landowner at closing. The report documents the important conservation values protected by the easement and the relevant conditions of the property as necessary to monitor and enforce the easement. In the event that seasonal conditions prevent the completion of a full baseline documentation report by closing, a schedule for finalizing the full report and an acknowledgement of interim data [that for donations and bargain sales meets Treasury Regulations §1 170A-14(g)(5)(i)] are signed by the landowner at closing.

Baseline Documentation Policy

Introduction

The Southern Appalachian Highlands Conservancy (SAHC) requires a complete and thorough Baseline Documentation Report for each conservation easement it holds. Baseline Documentation Reports help SAHC to meet the requirements of the Treasury Regulations for tax-deductible easements and to educate landowners and future land trust staff and volunteers about the conservation values and easement terms applicable to each property. Baseline Reports also supply necessary evidence in the event that a conservation easement violation occurs. It is therefore imperative that baseline documentation contains all the information necessary to manage and enforce each conservation easement.

Time of compilation of baseline documentation

The Southern Appalachian Highlands Conservancy initiates the baseline documentation while the terms of the conservation easement are being negotiated. A draft of the baseline documentation will be given to the landowner for review prior to closing. The baseline documentation will be completed, signed by the landowner, and notarized at the same time that the conservation easement is signed. Any supplements to the Baseline Report will be stored with the original, working copy of the report in the SAHC's offices. Amendments or updates to the baseline will be signed by the current landowner and a SAHC staff representative.

Content of the baseline documentation

In general The baseline data shall contain enough information to define each right and restriction in the conservation easement, without being more specific than necessary. Only the resources that the easement protects will be documented. The baseline data will be an objective assessment of the condition of the property, not a prescription for restoration or improvements to be made by the landowner. General biological surveys, geological assessments and other specific information may be necessary, but the necessity of such specific information will be determined on a case-by-case basis depending on the resources protected by the conservation easement.

Specific information that must be included

- Date of completion
- Ownership information (name, address and phone number of the landowner)
- Directions to the property
- Original landowner acknowledgement of the Baseline Documentation Report (notarized)
- Qualifications of the preparer
- A copy of the conservation easement
- Description/documentation of the conservation values protected by the conservation easement
- A general description of existing conditions, property uses and human modifications that relate to the easement's restrictions and reserved rights
- Photographs taken at appropriate points on the property showing the condition of the property as it relates to the conservation values, rights and restrictions of the conservation easement
- A map documenting the locations of the photographs taken above for use by easement monitors
- A United States Geological Survey topographic map of the property
- An aerial photograph of the property showing the property lines
- A map of the property showing existing man-made improvements (roads, buildings, gravel pits, etc.)

Note All photo pages should be signed by an SAHC representative and the landowners In the case of multiple landowners, landowners may choose to designate a photograph signer to represent the group (with all landowners signing a designated photograph signer acknowledgement page) All maps should be signed by the creator

Storage of original baseline documentation

The Southern Appalachian Highlands Conservancy will create a minimum of three original, signed copies of each Baseline Documentation Report One of these copies will be stored in the SAHC's offices and serve as working copy, one will be stored off site to ensure that it is never accidentally destroyed, and one will be provided to the landowner Additional original copies may be needed for the records of funding organizations or other involved organizations, depending on each individual property

*BASELINE DOCUMENTATION POLICY ADOPTED by Board of Trustees 03 14 2009
Updated from 1996 version.*

VII. Monitoring of Easements

LTA Standard 11.C: Easement Monitoring The land trust monitors its easement properties regularly, at least annually, in a manner appropriate to the size and restrictions of each property, and keeps documentation (such as reports, updated photographs and maps) of each monitoring activity

The Southern Appalachian Highlands Conservancy Easement Monitoring Policy

Easement Stewardship Philosophy

Southern Appalachian Highlands Conservancy (SAHC) is dedicated to upholding its legal and community obligations by acting as a responsible steward of the conservation easements it accepts. Inasmuch as the easements are intended to be legally binding in perpetuity, one of the keys to preserving these easements is SAHC's commitment to monitor, defend and enforce the terms of each conservation easement on a consistent basis. In addition, SAHC is committed to cultivating strong landowner relations as a proactive tool in its efforts to meet this obligation.

Monitoring Definition

SAHC defines monitoring as the annual, documented, visual inspection of a conservation easement-protected property, by qualified monitors, to ensure that the terms of the easement are being upheld. Furthermore, in accordance with SAHC's desire to be a resource for conservation information, monitors will not only inspect for violations but may also make proactive recommendations to landowners regarding good land management practices that may not be required by the terms of the easement, as the situation warrants.

Monitoring Frequency

All conservation easement-protected properties shall be monitored at least once per calendar year to ensure that the restrictive terms of the easement are not violated. In certain circumstances, monitoring should be more frequent (examples include the exercise of a reserved right, such as timber harvesting or construction of a dwelling) in order to identify any actions that may violate the terms of the restrictions as soon as practicable, and thus reduce the organization's chances for significant time and expense in correcting a violation.

Monitor Qualifications

Easement monitoring will be conducted by stewardship staff, interns, AmeriCorps members, trained volunteers, and qualified professionals. Prior to commencing monitoring, SAHC monitors will receive adequate training in the methods and importance of the monitoring process, its relation to SAHC's overall conservation easement management program, and how to conduct the monitoring in a safe and professional manner.

Method of Monitoring

SAHC will conduct its annual monitoring with a combination of drive-by visual assessment, on-the-ground monitoring in the majority of cases, and aerial monitoring in the case of large or inaccessible properties

Monitoring Procedure

SAHC monitoring personnel will use a combination of strategies to ensure that easement terms are upheld. This will include landowner contact pre- and post-visit, a review of reserved rights and prohibited activities, on-site monitoring using some combination of GPS technology, digital photography, GIS parcel data and aerial photographs, surveys, and map and compass, and documentation of the visit both textual and visual. Post-visit, documentation of the visit including photos, a GIS map of the areas monitored, and an assessment of the visit will be filed in SAHC's working conservation easement file. A post-visit letter will be mailed to the landowner within 90 days stating the property has been monitored and providing the option to request a full monitoring report.

Suspected Violations

In the event of a monitoring visit resulting in a documented or suspected violation, the monitors shall not address the violation with the landowner immediately but will follow the procedure outlined in SAHC's "Conservation Easement Violation Protocol."

Conflict of Interest:

No individual who owns property subject to an SAHC conservation easement, including board members, staff, volunteers, or qualified professionals may monitor an easement on their own property, neighboring properties, or any property in which they have a direct interest, financial or otherwise. A monitor shall have no current financial relationship with the landowner(s). However, owning an easement property shall not disqualify an individual from monitoring properties in which they do not have a direct interest.

Revision of Monitoring Policy:

From time to time the Monitoring Policy may be revised for the following reasons: (1) to correct errors or clarify ambiguities, (2) to comply with the Land Trust Standards and Practices and generally accepted practices in the land trust field, (3) to describe current monitoring procedures of the organization, (4) to recognize changes in organizational capacity or types or numbers of easement properties being protected, or (5) other reasons that the organization deems important in order to uphold its stewardship responsibility. Any revisions to the Monitoring Policy require the prior vote and adoption by the Board of Trustees of the Southern Appalachian Highlands Conservancy before implementation.

MONITORING POLICY ADOPTED by SAHC Board of Trustees on 12/06/2008

Updated from 1996 version.

VIII. Landowner Relations

LTA Standard 11.D: The land trust maintains regular contact with owners of easement properties. When possible, it provides landowners with information on property management and or referrals to resource managers. The land trust strives to promptly build a positive working relationship with new owners of easement property and informs them about the easement's existence and restrictions and the land trust's stewardship policies and procedures. The land trust establishes and implements systems to track changes in land ownership.

SAHC strives to create and maintain positive relationships with easement owners, both original and subsequent, with regular contact throughout the year. Some of the tools used in landowner relations are listed below.

A. Monitoring Scheduling & Annual Questionnaire

SAHC will maintain and update when necessary a list of easement landowner contact information. Each year prior to a property's annual visit, a "Landowner Questionnaire", or list of questions regarding ownership, reserved rights, neighboring landowner activities, land management activities, etc., is sent to the primary contact to get current information about the easement property.

B. Post-monitoring letter & management resources

During each annual monitoring visit, SAHC looks for forest health issues and management recommendations in addition to performing conservation easement monitoring. After each conservation easement is annually monitored, SAHC details any management recommendations and information within the post-monitoring letter, as well as offers SAHC stewardship staff as a resource for further land management questions.

C. "Signatures": stewardship newsletter

1. Purpose is to keep landowners informed about land management issues and SAHC stewardship activities, above and beyond the general SAHC newsletter. Articles are frequently written by Land Management Committee members and/or land management professionals from the area.
2. Compiled and distributed periodically, usually twice per year.

D. Conservation Easement Owner's Manual

1. Purpose is to explain what easement owner may expect from SAHC's stewardship program, including annual monitoring visits and contact with staff.
2. Includes contact information for resource management professionals.
3. Landowner will receive copy upon signing of easement.

E. Successive Landowner Procedure (created 08/16/06)

Introduction

SAHC is responsible for protecting each conservation easement (CE), in perpetuity, as specified in the Internal Revenue Service Regulations and with the CE document itself (within the Recitals). Conservation easements, and SAHC's responsibility for stewardship, run with the land beyond the ownership of the original easement grantor. More and more easement-protected properties will be sold, passed on to heirs, or transferred to a new generation of landowners as time passes. It is vitally important to build strong relationships with these new landowners through early contact. Not only does this provide a valuable opportunity to build a positive landowner relationship, answer questions, and dispel any misunderstandings a new landowner may have. It may also help prevent easement violations from happening in the future.

The following Successive Easement Landowner Procedures lay out a process for introducing a new landowner to SAHC and the conservation easement that conserves their land, as well as starting to build a positive landowner relationship. We consider ourselves "Partners for Preservation", and believe that building trust and open communication helps prevent misunderstandings and minimize easement issues throughout the lifetime of the landowner relation.

Procedure

1-Upon learning of a successive easement landowner, SAHC will promptly send the new owner(s) a package containing the following:

- Introductory Letter (tailored to their property)
- New Landowner Information Sheet with SASE
- Primary Contact Letter(s) (if applicable)
- Conservation Easement Document (specific to property)
- Baseline Documentation Report Acknowledgement Page (to be signed)
- Introduction to Conservation Easements
- Easement Owner's Manual (once created)
- Most recent SAHC Stewardship Newsletter
- Most recent SAHC Member Newsletter
- SAHC Membership form
- Stewardship and Conservation Planning Director business card

2-Upon receiving their New Landowner Information Sheet, promptly call them to answer any questions and to set up an Orientation meeting:

- Confirm that the transfer has taken place, and if possible ask for a copy of the Deed
- Confirm the names of all parties who will have an interest in the property

3-At the Orientation meeting, discuss the following with the new landowner:

- Conservation Easements in general
- Conservation Easement Document (specifics for their new property) Review
 - Reserved rights
 - Notice provisions and applicable timelines
- Baseline Documentation Report
 - Review the report, note the Management Issues and Recommendations
 - Ask them to sign an Acknowledgement Page stating that they have received and we have reviewed the CE and BDR
- Annual Monitoring Visits
 - Go over most recent property report and provide them a copy
 - Discuss timeline of notification of visit, etc
 - Discuss stewardship services/info provided and Stewardship Newsletter
 - Discuss marking CE Boundary
- Primary Contact Letter(s) (if applicable)-discuss and ask them to get signed
- Discuss their Complimentary 1-year SAHC Membership
- Mention SAHC Outings Program and Volunteer Opportunities

Landowner Relations adopted by SAHC board June 14, 2009

IX. Community Outreach

LTA Standard 12.F: Community Outreach. The land trust keeps neighbors and community leaders informed about its ownership and management of conservation properties

SAHC will work to maintain a constructive relationship with neighbors and community members. It will inform them of its ownership of fee simple property and of its management and conservation goals for those properties.

After each acquisition or conservation easement close, SAHC distributes press releases announcing the property's conservation status and general location. Detailed articles on conserved properties area also included in the SAHC general membership newsletter.

SAHC's extensive outreach and hiking program is open to the public. The SAHC Outreach Program recruits and retains the membership by improving communications and organization message focused on service and commitment to community through correspondence, social networking, public outreach, membership appreciation, and other benefits.

Through local press announcements, the SAHC general membership newsletter, membership emails, and social networking sites, the local community regularly receives invitations to outreach activities, such as guided hikes on properties protected by SAHC that would otherwise be inaccessible to the public. During these outreach activities, conserved properties are visited and our intentions and management of these conserved properties, as well as for properties in the surrounding area, are communicated and discussed.

For conserved properties that are adjacent to or associated with a homeowners' or property owner's association, SAHC regularly attends association meetings and acts as a resource for general land management questions within these communities.

Adopted by SAHC board June 14, 2009

X. Easement Violations

LTA Standard 11.E: Enforcement of Easements The land trust has a written policy and or procedure detailing how it will respond to a potential violation of an easement, including the role of all parties involved (such as board members, volunteers, staff, and partners) in any enforcement action. The land trust takes necessary and consistent steps to see that violations are resolved and has available, or has a strategy to secure, the financial and legal resources for enforcement and defense

CONSERVATION EASEMENT VIOLATION PROTOCOL

As a holder of conservation easements, the Southern Appalachian Highlands Conservancy (SAHC) must enforce the terms of these easements. In addition to protecting the conservation values of the land, enforcement is needed to generate public confidence in SAHC's mission to conserve land, to uphold SAHC's legal authority to enforce the terms of its conservation easements, and to maintain SAHC's ability to accept future donations of easements and its tax-exempt status. SAHC's failure to enforce the terms of its conservation easements could jeopardize its 501(c)(3) status if it were shown that SAHC relinquished its enforcement rights to benefit private individuals.

Discovery of a Violation

SAHC may discover a violation on a monitoring visit, through a neighbor or other interested party, or during informal observation. The landowners are not necessarily assumed as the responsible party. It is important to note that the landowners, adjacent property owner, a lessee, or a trespasser may have caused the violation.

Landowners should not be notified of potential violations at the time of a monitoring visit. Potential violations should be well documented and the easement should be reviewed in order to determine if the observed condition is a violation, and if so, to determine its severity. Monitors should be properly trained in recognizing and documenting potential violations and communicating appropriately with landowners regarding potential violations.

If a potential violation is discovered, it shall be documented thoroughly with photographs, measurements of damage to the affected resource, dated field notes, and explicit comparison with the baseline data and recent monitoring reports. All photographs should be accompanied by accurate descriptions, photo locations, and compass bearings. The violation should be documented for an audience that is unfamiliar with the property, as a thorough record will be essential should SAHC need to go to court. All conversations and contact regarding potential violations should be fully documented.

Procedures for Enforcement

SAHC's response to a violation should depend on the severity of the violation. Violations will be determined by the staff to belong to one of three categories: Technical Infractions, Minor Violations, and Major Violations. A violation can change from one category to another due to changes in landowner relations, considerations of time (such as statutes of limitation), or other relevant factors. In such cases, SAHC's response should be adjusted accordingly.

In general, SAHC will attempt to resolve violations by starting with education of the landowner and moving into negotiation or mediation if necessary. Litigation shall be pursued only if it is absolutely necessary and only after consultation with a legal counsel. Legal action should not be taken or threatened unless the Board of Trustees has approved such an action.

According to Karen M. Ponte ("Violations-Steps to Take" 2003 Land Trust Alliance Rally presentation), litigation is necessary when

- A The violation does significant harm to the conservation values
- B The easement CLEARLY prohibits the activity
- C The landowner will not back down

AND

The land trust is likely to prevail.

OR

The integrity of the land trust is at stake

Technical Infractions

These do not harm conservation values of the property directly. They include improper or insufficient paperwork and failures to notify SAHC of actions that require notification

- When it is determined that a Technical Infraction has occurred, a letter shall be sent to the landowner reminding them of their responsibilities and asking them to comply in the future

Minor Violations

These are violations that result in little or no damage to conservation values and are not permanent. Examples include roadside trash found in an area where dumping is prohibited and minor cutting of vegetation where it is excluded

- If a Minor Violation is identified, the landowners should be contacted by phone to discuss the issue. If the landowners are unaware of the activity, it shall be explained and an offer extended to meet on the property to review the problem. Suggestions should be made to correct the minor violation and a timeline established for completion of them. Any reasonable assistance should be offered to the landowners toward corrective efforts. SAHC staff shall ask landowners to contact SAHC when the problem is corrected and provide summaries of their phone conversations to the landowners. A follow-up visit should then take place to document the correction
- Once a follow-up visit has been completed and corrections have been documented, everything should be copied to the working files and a letter should be sent to the landowners thanking them for their efforts in response to the problem
- If the problem is not corrected by the agreed upon time or if the landowners refuse to address the matter, the violation will be considered major and the procedures below should be followed
- Cc: all communications to the Executive Director and Land Management Committee Chair

Major Violations

Violations that are categorized as major are those that cause damage to conservation values on a large scope or result in permanent damage or both. Timber harvest that is prohibited by the terms of the conservation easement and unpermitted construction projects would both be considered major violations

- If a Major Violation is identified and the violation is ongoing, the SAHC's Executive Director and Stewardship and Conservation Planning Director (SCPD) should be involved promptly
- If the violation is ongoing and conservation values on the protected property are threatened with further harm, the landowner should be contacted as soon as possible and asked to cease the destructive behavior immediately. In the event that a landowner refuses to halt destructive activities, SAHC should be prepared to take legal action against the landowner in order to prevent further harm to conservation values while the violation is being resolved
- Whether or not the violation is ongoing, the chair of the Land Management Committee should be notified. The violation shall be evaluated, corrective or restorative actions decided on, and an appropriate timeline established. If the discovery of the violation is after the fact, it should be documented and discussed at the next Land Management Committee meeting or at the discretion of the committee's chair. If the violation is ongoing and response time is of the essence, the Executive Director, SCPD, and the Land Management Committee chair should consult

- The SCPD shall contact the landowner by telephone to explain the situation and SAHC's policy on easement violations. Corrective actions or cessation of the violation activity shall be requested and a deadline for compliance shall be given. The SCPD should follow up the telephone call with a letter reiterating the explanation and request and explaining the need for a compliance inspection.
- If the landowner refuses to comply with requests, the SCPD shall consult with the Executive Director, and the Land Management Committee chair to determine how best to proceed. If the landowner is willing, negotiation should be employed to agree on appropriate corrective measures and timelines. Mediation may also be considered.
- The SCPD shall inspect the property on the deadline that was established for compliance and, if the matter ends with timely compliance, send a written acknowledgment of compliance to the landowner and thank the landowner for a quick response.
- If the landowner does not comply by the set date, the SCPD shall send a second letter citing SAHC's vested interest in the conservation of the property, restating the required corrections, and establishing a second deadline date.
- The SCPD shall inspect the property on the second deadline date for compliance, and if the landowner complies with the required corrections, send a written acknowledgment of compliance to the landowner and thank the landowner for his/her response.
- If the landowner does not comply by the second deadline date, the Land Management Committee shall re-evaluate the situation. The committee has the option to recommend to the Board that SAHC pursue enforcement through legal channels consistent with the resolution language in the easement. Judicial proceedings should be viewed as a means of last resort. If a violation requires court action, SAHC should be certain there are adequate funds to cover legal expenses, hire and prepare qualified legal counsel, actively participate in the formulation of the case, and use SAHC's careful documentation of the violation, baseline and monitoring documentation and experience on the property in order to achieve a positive outcome.
- CC: all communications to the Executive Director and Land Management Committee Chair

-REVISED VERSION ADOPTED by Board of Trustees 03/14/2009

XI. Amendments to Conservation Easements

SAHC AMENDMENT POLICY

Amendments to Conservation Easements

LTA Standard 11.I: Amendments The land trust recognizes that amendments are not routine, but can serve to strengthen an easement or improve its enforceability. The land trust has a written policy or procedure guiding amendment requests that includes a prohibition against private inurement and impermissible private benefit, requires compliance with the land trust's conflict of interest policy, requires compliance with any funding requirements, addresses the role of the board, and contains a requirement that all amendments result in either a positive or not less than neutral conservation outcome and are consistent with the organization's mission.

A General Policy on Amendments.

Because our acquisitions are achieved through voluntary agreements with landowners, the success of our program lies in the confidence of these owners that the Southern Appalachian Highlands Conservancy (SAHC) will uphold its obligation to monitor and enforce the agreements. This confidence would be seriously eroded if SAHC were to allow indiscriminate modification of our conservation easements.

Furthermore, amendments to conservation easements can raise serious problems with the IRS. SAHC's tax-exempt status as an organization is jeopardized if easements are amended gratuitously. An easement donor who has claimed a charitable deduction for a gift of an easement may lose that deduction if the easement is amended. Any amendment which results in an increase in property value or other benefit to the landowner or other private party may create "private benefit or inurement" (for instance an action by a nonprofit that accrues to the advantage of a private party or to someone affiliated with the organization), which is forbidden by the U.S. tax code.

For these reasons and others, it is the policy of SAHC to hold and enforce our conservation easements as written. Amendments to conservation easements will be authorized only in exceptional circumstances and only under the guidelines outlined below. Unless specifically waived by the Board of Trustees, the requestor of an easement amendment shall pay all costs, including without limitation, appraisal fees, further baseline studies, staff time and consulting fees for reviewing the request, whether or not the amendment is approved. This amendment policy is in compliance with the Land Trust Alliance's Standards and Practices and with the organization's Conflict of Interest Policy. Any amendment proposed and granted will be on a case-by-case basis and will not be considered as setting a precedent.

B Exceptions. SAHC will consider amendments to our conservation easements only under the following circumstances:

1. Prior Agreement In a few cases, a conservation easement may have a specific provision allowing modification of the easement at a future date under specified circumstances. Such agreements must be set forth in the conservation easement document or in a separate recorded document signed by both parties at the time the conservation easement was executed. The amendment must be consistent with the terms and conservation intent of the original agreement.
2. Correction of an Error or Ambiguity SAHC may authorize an amendment to correct an obvious error or oversight made at the time the conservation easement was executed. This may include correction of a legal description, inclusion of standard language that was unintentionally omitted, or clarification of an ambiguity in the terms of the restrictions in order to avoid litigation over the interpretation of the document in the future.
3. Settlement of Condemnation Proceedings Conservation easements and other interests SAHC holds in land may be subject to condemnation for public purposes, such as highways and schools. Where it appears that the condemnation power will be properly exercised, SAHC may enter into a settlement agreement with the condemning authority in order to avoid the expense of litigation. In reaching such an agreement, SAHC shall attempt to preserve the intent of the original conservation agreement to the greatest extent possible

- 4 Amendments Consistent with Conservation Purpose and Enhancing Conservation Values SAHC may authorize other modifications of a conservation easement if the modification is consistent with the intent of the original parties and with the statement of purpose contained in the easement document. The modifications must also be consistent with SAHC's mission statement and with IRS and state requirements for easement qualification. The modifications must comply with any still applicable, original funding source requirements, and the new level of protection of the conservation values provided by the amended easement must be at least equal to, if not greater than, that provided initially, which is in the sole discretion of SAHC. The amendment and procedure must conform to any stipulations in the original conservation easement document. Any proposed modifications cannot create private inurement or impermissible private benefit as those terms are defined in the IRS code. The modifications must not negatively impact the easement's enforceability.

C Procedure.

- 1 General Procedure All amendments of existing conservation easements require the approval of SAHC's Board of Trustees which shall pass with majority affirmative vote (quorum equals 1/3). Unless a landowner withdraws a requested amendment, a member of SAHC's staff will thoroughly review and then present the proposed amendment to the Land Management Committee in person at a duly constituted meeting which occur quarterly, and will describe the conserved property, summarize the pertinent terms of the existing easement, explain the reasons for the amendment, and present the staff's concerns and recommendations. If a landowner has submitted written justification and documentation for the amendment, as provided below, SAHC staff will provide copies to the Land Management Committee, before the meeting if practical, and otherwise at the meeting. The Committee will then review the materials presented and make a recommendation to SAHC's Board of Trustees. At the next scheduled quarterly Board meeting, the Trustees will also receive copies of any pertinent documentation and will consider the materials presented, as well as the Committee and staff's recommendations, and the Trustees will vote on the approval of the proposed amendment.
- 2 SAHC-Initiated Amendments If SAHC staff recognizes the need for an amendment consistent with this policy, it will contact the landowner and recommend the amendment to the existing easement. After the staff and the landowner have reached an agreement on the language of the amendment, which must satisfy the guidelines set forth in Section B above, the proposed amendment will be submitted by the staff to SAHC's Land Management Committee (and then on further to the Board of Trustees) for consideration as provided below. If the Land Management Committee determines that the amendment is mutually beneficial to the landowner and SAHC, the Committee may recommend to the Trustees that the landowner should be asked to share any expenses. If the amendment is important to the organization's mission, SAHC may proceed, whether or not the landowner agrees to share expenses.
- 3 Landowner-Initiated Amendments
 - a) A landowner seeking modification of an existing conservation easement must submit the request in writing to SAHC stating the nature of the desired change and the specific reasons why the change is needed and warranted. This letter must include any necessary measurements, specifications, and where appropriate, or if SAHC staff so requires, a map or survey depicting the proposed modification(s). Unless waived by the board, the landowner will be required to agree in writing to reimburse SAHC for all staff time and expenses, including legal fees and costs associated with the requested amendment.
 - c) SAHC staff will review each request for amendment to determine whether the request is properly documented and satisfies the guidelines set forth in Section B above. Throughout such review SAHC staff will strive to promote good relations with the landowner and use the opportunity to meet and educate the landowner regarding the purpose and conservation benefits of the existing easement. SAHC staff may, but are not required to, consult with the original donor, governmental officials, and others who might have an interest in the eased property or the conservation easement. The staff will review the materials submitted, and if necessary will request in writing further documentation. The written notice to the landowner will include statements giving the landowner at least 30 days to provide further written justification and documentation and that the landowner's failure to do so will be deemed a waiver of this right After affording the landowner the stated period to provide further written justification and documentation or after such earlier time that the landowner has either submitted written justification and documentation or waived such right, SAHC staff will present the requested amendment and the landowner's written justification and documentation, if any, together with the staff's recommendation, at the next scheduled meeting of SAHC's Land Management Committee for its review as provided above

4 Review Process The review of the proposed amendment by the staff, Land Management Committee, and by the Board of Trustees will entail examination of the guidelines set forth in Section B above as well as address the following questions

Further Questions

- Are there conservation values that are lost or diminished with the proposed modifications?
- Are the proposed modifications consistent with the original Grantor's intent?
- Do the changes result in more overall land conservation, but at the expense of certain restrictions in the original easement?
 - If so, does weakening these specific restrictions compromise the goals/purposes of the original easement?
- What are the likely financial benefits to the landowners (in regards to the IRS code)?
 - Are there significant cash flow benefits?
 - Are there significant property value appreciation benefits?
- Do the proposed modifications eliminate or reduce ambiguities or arcane language in the original easement, thereby enhancing enforceability?
- Are the proposed modifications generally acceptable on any other property with similar conservation values and a similar conservation easement?
- How are the conservation benefits to the public affected by the amendment?
- Are there other feasible alternatives available that will achieve a similar result?
- Will denial of the amendment cause undue hardship over which the landowner had no control?
- Will the proposed modifications affect SAHC's ability to steward or defend the conservation easement?
- Will any co-holders of the easement approve of the modifications?
- Does the amendment positively impact the conservation value of neighboring lands?

5 Necessary Parties The approval of any amendment by the Board of Trustees will be subject to the condition that the identification of the necessary parties and obtaining assurances that such parties will sign the amendment will be undertaken by SAHC staff before such amendment is considered fully approved by SAHC SAHC staff may seek legal counsel and obtain a written title opinion as to the necessary parties

6 Endowment If an amendment requested by a landowner is approved by the Board of Trustees, and it will increase the administrative burden on SAHC for future monitoring of compliance and/or enforcement of the conservation easement, SAHC staff will request an additional endowment contribution from the landowner

7 Notification The Trustees decision regarding a requested amendment will be sent to the landowner in writing within 10 days of the decision

If the trustees approve the amendment, it will be set forth in a document reviewed and approved by legal counsel to SAHC, signed by all necessary parties, and recorded in the county registry where the existing easement is recorded During this process the staff may decide whether a restated and amended conservation easement is preferable to record in lieu of a separate easement agreement

8 Further Review In the event that the Board of Trustees does not approve the proposed amendment there will be no further review

XII. Easement Management and Reserved Rights

LTA Standard 11.F. Reserved Rights and Permitted Rights and Approvals The land trust has an established procedure for responding to landowner required notices or requests for approvals in a timely and consistent manner, and has a system to track notices, approvals and the exercise of any significant reserved or permitted rights

Reserved Rights Policy

Southern Appalachian Highlands Conservancy (SAHC) holds conservation easements in perpetuity as a result of voluntary agreements with landowners. It is the policy of SAHC to ensure that each easement is properly drafted and monitored on a yearly basis. Each easement is drafted individually for each landowner but is drafted under the same fundamental principles, with a purpose and conservation value(s) specific to the land being protected. The property owner may reserve the right within the easement document to conduct specific practices that do not degrade or hinder the conservation values of the property. If certain reserved rights have the possibility of affecting the conservation values, SAHC can require approval of those reserved rights. The requirement for approval of certain reserved rights is noted in the conservation easement document. Building a house, conducting timber harvests, or wetland and/or pond building are examples of reserved rights of which SAHC may require approval. This policy only applies to reserved rights that require SAHC approval. If and when a landowner wishes to exercise a reserved right needing SAHC approval, SAHC will follow the following procedure:

Consideration of Request

A request must meet the following guidelines:

- The request must relate to the original easement, the documented conservation values, and the stated purpose of the conservation easement.
- No request shall jeopardize the obligations of SAHC to monitor and enforce the easement, shall not terminate the easement, or cause the easement to fail under IRS tax codes or any other applicable law.
- Any request must not increase the net value of the property which could be seen as a violation of private benefit/inurement provisions under IRS tax code regulations.
- SAHC will follow the guidelines and time constraints as written in the original conservation easement document.

SAHC Reserved Rights Committee

SAHC Reserved Rights Committee will review and decide on all reserved rights requests. The SAHC Reserved Rights Committee should include the SAHC Stewardship & Conservation Planning Director and at least two other members, who can be staff, board, or Land Management Committee members. One of these two additional members must not be staff.

Approval Procedure

1) The initial request must be made in writing (including email) to all parties involved with the request. This must include the intent and nature of the action, the specific reason(s) why the action is needed, and how the request does not impede on the original easement. When appropriate, the request must be accompanied by a map, written plans drafted by proper professionals, blue prints, picture(s) and/or other documentation.

2) SAHC Reserved Rights Committee will review each request to determine whether the request is properly documented and satisfies the guidelines and purposes stated in this policy. The request must be consistent with the original easement document, the baseline documentation report, and monitoring reports Evaluations of all requests may include reasonable efforts to contact parties involved with the original transaction, including the landowner who donated/sold the easement or his/her heirs Other staff, board members, Land Management Committee Members, legal counsel, or natural resource professionals may be asked to also review the request

3) If the Reserved Rights Committee concludes that the request is permissible under the conservation easement, consistent with the terms of the policy statement, and clearly warranted by circumstances, the committee may approve, approve with modification, or reject the request If the full committee consists of the minimum three members, approval shall require a unanimous vote of the committee If the full committee consists of more than three members, approval shall require a majority vote of the full committee Notification of the SAHC decision will be forwarded in writing to the party proposing the request

4) If a proposed request is rejected by the Reserved Rights Committee, SAHC staff will by certified return receipt mail, inform the party of the committee's decision and advise the landowner of his/her right to resubmit the proposal for reconsideration by the full SAHC Land Management Committee The party resubmitting the request shall have thirty (30) days from the date he/she received notification to resubmit the request along with additional written documentation to justify the request Failure to resubmit the request with accompanying documentation within the required time period shall be deemed a waiver of this right for reconsideration

If the party resubmits the request and additional written documentation within the required time period, SAHC staff will review the resubmitted documents and present the material along with staff recommendation to the SAHC Land Management Committee at the next convenient regularly scheduled meeting Following a decision of the SAHC Land Management Committee, SAHC will notify the party in writing of the committee's decision

XIII. Fee Simple Properties

LTA Standard 12.B: Stewardship Principles The land trust establishes general principles to guide the stewardship of its fee-owned properties, including determining what uses are and are not appropriate on its properties, the types of improvements it might make and any land management practices it will follow

LTA Standard 12.C: Land Management. The land trust inventories the natural and cultural features of each property prior to developing a management plan that identifies its conservation goals for the property and how it plans to achieve them Permitted activities are compatible with the conservation goals, stewardship principles and public benefit mission of the organization Permitted activities occur only when the activity poses no significant threat to the important conservation values, reduces threats or restores ecological processes, and or advances learning and demonstration opportunities

LTA Standard 12.D: Monitoring Land Trust Properties. The land trust marks its boundaries and regularly monitors its properties for potential management problems (such as trespass, misuse or overuse, vandalism or safety hazards) and takes action to rectify such problems

Fee Simple Property Guidelines

Fee Simple Management Philosophy

Southern Appalachian Highlands Conservancy owns properties under two categories 1) non-conservation trade lands donated to the land trust to be sold in order to generate money to promote its conservation program, and 2) those intended as preserves Management non-conservation trade lands will involve simple maintenance and upkeep until time of sale Management on (SAHC) preserves will be guided by two principles 1) what is appropriate for conservation purposes on a given site, and, 2) what is feasible given the human and financial resources available Some of these preserves may transfer to a government entity

Management Plans

Southern Appalachian Highlands Conservancy writes management plans for each property that it owns in fee simple The purposes of SAHC management plans are to identify the resources on each preserve and to communicate management goals and associated actions to protect those resources

A management plan will be drafted for each preserve by SAHC staff, contracted individuals, or qualified volunteers Each plan should consist of, at minimum

- directions to the property
- map(s) of the property
- a description of conservation values/attributes and information about the important natural and anthropomorphic features on the property
- a summary of any restrictions that came with the property or that were placed on the property
- a description of potential threats to the conservation values or areas of special concern
- management goals for the property
- a plan for implementing those goals

Management plans must be reviewed by the Land Management Committee prior to being implemented and should be completed within one year from the time the property is purchased or donated

Leases

SAHC may choose to lease the property for caretaking, hunting, grazing, selective timber cutting, or other reasons deemed appropriate These leases should enhance, not compromise, the conservation values and must be in accordance with the specific property's management plan SAHC acknowledges that responsible hunting, grazing, and selective timber cutting can be an appropriate management techniques and the presence of a caretaker or other lessee's regular visits to a property can reduce management problems, such as trespassing and other third-party violations, as well as improve a property's condition SAHC may terminate leases on fee simple properties at its discretion at anytime Leases should be in accordance with SAHC's Conflict of Interest Policy

Fee Simple Monitoring

All SAHC-owned preserves should be monitored at least annually to identify possible sources of encroachment and safety hazards and to update management plans The frequency of monitoring visits should be determined based on the circumstances surrounding each property Preserves that are used intensively by the public or that are undergoing timber harvesting, for instance, may need to be visited more frequently than once a year

SAHC will heavily rely on its Adopt-A-SAHC-Property Program to assist in annual monitoring As part of this program, SAHC recruits and coordinates volunteers from the community to adopt a specific preserve Reporting to SAHC staff, these volunteers agree to visit and monitor their properties regularly, as well as possibly participate in management activities as needed Volunteers are trained by SAHC staff

Posting Fee Simple Boundaries

To the best of their ability, Southern Appalachian Highlands Conservancy will ensure that the boundaries of every property it owns are clearly marked to indicate properties' locations and discourage encroachment SAHC staff may walk the boundary lines and re-mark existing survey lines, or SAHC may choose to hire a surveyor to survey and post any given property Property boundaries may be marked by blazing, by painting trees, or by posting boundary signs As posting boundaries can take a considerable amount of time, SAHC recognizes that posting properties may take years to complete, but will make good effort to post boundaries in a timely manner

*Fee Simple Property Guidelines ADOPTED by Board of Trustees 03 14 2009
Updated from 1996 version.*

XIV. Transfer Properties

LTA Standard 12.H: Nonpermanent Holdings. When a land trust holds fee land with the intention to sell or transfer the land, the land trust is open about its plans with the public and manages and maintains the property in a manner that retains the land trust's public credibility. (See 8L.)

SAHC will monitor transfer or nonpermanent holdings in such a manner as to either (1) further its traditional use, or (2) maintain conservation uses in a manner that coincides with surrounding use. The management goal for transfer property is to maintain property value while ensuring responsible use of the land. Real property accepted for donation will be reported to SAHC's liability insurance carrier to assure appropriate insurance coverage during the period of SAHC ownership.

Transfer Properties adopted by SAHC board June 14, 2009

XV. Contingency Plans

LTA Standard 11.G: The land trust has a contingency plan for all of its easements in the event the land trust ceases to exist or can no longer steward and administer them. If a backup is listed in the easement, the land trust secures prior consent of the backup grantee to accept the easement. To ensure that a backup or contingency holder will accept an easement, the land trust has complete and accurate files and stewardship and enforcement funds available for transfer.

LTA Standard 11.H: If a land trust regularly consents to being named as a backup or contingency holder, it has a policy or procedure for accepting easements from other land trusts and has a plan for how it will obtain the financial resources and organizational capacity for easements it may receive at a future date.

LTA Standard 12.G: Contingency Backup. The land trust has a contingency plan for all of its conservation land in the event the land trust ceases to exist or can no longer manage the property. To ensure that a contingency holder will accept the land, the land trust has complete and accurate files and stewardship funds available for transfer.

SAHC may choose to list a qualified backup grantee organization in an easement document. In any event, if SAHC can no longer fulfill stewardship and administration duties for the easements and fee simple property it holds, it will transfer them to a qualified organization or organizations working in the region, along with all necessary project documentation and funding attached to the easement or property.

Similarly, SAHC may agree to be listed or to serve as a qualified backup grantee organization for another land trust operating in the region, complete project files and the necessary funds (or a plan to obtain these funds) will be required before the easement or property will be accepted by SAHC.

Contingency Plans adopted by SAHC board June 14, 2009

XVI. Condemnation or Extinguishment

LTA Standard 11.J: The land trust is aware of the potential for condemnation, understands its rights and obligations under condemnation and the IRC, and has appropriate documentation of the important conservation values and of the percentage of the full value of the property represented by the easement. The land trust works diligently to prevent a net loss of conservation values.

LTA Standard 11.K: In rare cases, it may be necessary to extinguish, or a court may order the extinguishment of, an easement in whole or in part. In these cases, the land trust notifies any project partners and works diligently to see that the extinguishment will not result in private inurement or impermissible private benefit and to prevent a net loss of important conservation values or impairment of public confidence in the land trust or in easements.

LTA Standard 12.I Condemnation. The land trust is aware of the potential for condemnation, understands its rights and obligations under condemnation, and works diligently to prevent a net loss in conservation values.

In the rare case that an easement or fee property (in whole or in part) is ever condemned or extinguished due to court order or an unfavorable change in external conditions affecting the easement or property, SAHC will work to the best of its ability to prevent a net loss of conservation values or any impermissible private benefit.

Condemnation or Extinguishment adopted by SAHC board June 14, 2009

XVII. Stewardship Records

LTA Standard 9.G: Recordkeeping Pursuant to its records policy (see 2D), the land trust keeps originals of all irreplaceable documents essential to the defense of each transaction (such as legal agreements, critical correspondence and appraisals) in one location, and copies in a separate location. Original documents are protected from daily use and are secure from fire, floods and other damage.

As outlined in SAHC's Records Policy, SAHC will create and maintain files for each conservation project in both digital and physical form for storage both on and off-site. These files will be created, maintained, and stored according to the guidelines of SAHC's Records Policy and according to the terms of this Stewardship Policies & Procedures document.
