Facts And Circumstances Test
NACSA meets the "facts and circumstances" test as outlined in Temporary Regulations section 1.170A-9T based on the following criteria Ten Percent Support Limitation The public support percentage for NACSA had been greater than 33 1/3 % prior to the year ending June 30, 2009. Since then, the public support percentage has been in excess of 25%. Attraction of Public Support Since it was founded, NACSA has consistently and continuously engaged in efforts to solicit grant funds from foundations and government units. This effort has involved several types of activities undertaken by NACSA staff year-round, including - research into potential new sources of foundation support, - review of government-issued requests-for-proposals, - drafting and submission of letters of inquiry and grant proposals to potential and current funders, and - drafting and submission of reports to funders on grant expenses and activities. NACSA now has a staff person (titled the Director of Development) whose job description includes these duties, and who is tasked with expanding NACSAS funding base to include more foundations and government support. These efforts are supported by a national pool of volunteers and professional philanthropy consultants. During the past 24 months, solicitation efforts have generated funding from additional nationally recognized foundations. NACSA has also received new government funding through the awarding of a $2.2 million three-year grant (beginning 10/1/10) from the U.S. Department of Education. Sources of Support NACSA receives its revenue through contributions, membership dues, and program revenue. NACSA seeks support from organizations that have an interest in charter school authorizers and organizations that support the mission of the charter school movement. Over the past 5 years, NACSA has received over $13 million of support from 5 large nationally recognized foundations. These foundations are not related to NACSA or to each other. These contributions were a significant source of revenue to NACSA. The support from these foundations were considered excess contributions which was the contributing factor in reducing NACSA's public support percentage below 33 1/3 %. Even though the contributions were significant to the operations of NACSA, the contributions were less than 1% of total contributions given to charitable organizations from 4 out of the 5 Foundations. The 5th foundation gave NACSA $350,000 which was approximately 7% of the Foundation's total contributions given during the year. Based on the percentage of funds given to NACSA from the foundations out of the total contributions given to charitable organizations throughout the nation, the contributions received were not intended to provide a means for the foundations to exercise control over the operations of NACSA. NACSA received the contributions as support of NACSA'S mission and the charter school system. In addition to the contribution revenue from private donors and foundations, NACSA has received more than $900,000 of government grants, $730,000 of membership support and $3.4 million of program revenue over the past 5 years. The donors for NACSA are those that have an interest in education and in particular charter schools for the United States. The majority of the membership support is from tax exempt entities such as schools and government agencies throughout the United States. The majority of the program revenue is received from tax exempt authorizing entities and state education agencies throughout the United States for providing technical assistance and management services. Representative Governing Body The board of directors consists of persons having special knowledge and expertise in the field of charter schools and charter school authorizers. NACSAS board of directors includes leading authorizers from a variety of chartering entities that hail from some of the most active and important charter school states. Two-thirds of the board consists of NACSA members who are charter school authorizers, while one-third of the board consists of NACSA associate members who work at institutions, corporations, units of government, charter school resource centers, state associations and other organizations that are not authorizers but have an interest in charter school authorizing. The board members are elected by the members of the NACSA. Public access to services NACSA provides public access to its research and publications via the internet. NACSA offers publications that address policies and standards for charter schools. The research NACSA compiles through surveys from the charter schools is available for public use. NACSA offers the publications and research to the public at no cost. NACSA provides additional information regarding the charter school industry to the public through published newspapers and periodicals. Key employees of NACSA have been interviewed and quoted in widely known periodicals such as the New York Times, The Denver Daily News, Education Week and The Associated Press. Public Participation in programs or policies NACSA offers various programs that accomplish the charitable mission of promoting the establishment and operation of quality charter schools through oversight in the public interest. These programs include Research and Evaluation, Charter School Authorizing, Standards and Evaluation, Policy and Communication, Authorizer Excellence Initiative, and Annual Conference. The accomplishments of each of these programs are outlined on Form 990 Part III. Membership dues and services NACSA was founded by and continues to serve and be governed by a diverse array of authorizing agencies including state education agencies, school districts, colleges and universities, special-purpose or independent chartering boards, municipalities, and private not-for-profit organizations. Full membership is restricted to charter school authorizers, public schools, school districts and other government entities. Membership dues for full members are $500 - $3,000 per year dependent upon the number of charter schools authorized by a member. Associate membership is available for institutions, corporations, units of government, charter school resource centers, state associations and other organizations that are not authorizers but have an interest in charter school authorizing. Membership dues for associate members are $500 annually. Individual membership is available to those who are not affiliated with an organization but have an interest in charter school authorizing. Membership dues information for individuals is available upon request. The members of NACSA are located in 29 states throughout the country. The members of the organization participate in the programs of NACSA which includes workshops and seminars in collaboration with state education agencies. NACSA also provides direct customized guidance to charter school authorizers. NACSA engages public officials and policy organizations across the nation to inform them of professional authorizing practices. All programs directly benefit charter school authorizers which in turn benefits the general public through the education from these schools. The dues are designed to enroll a substantial number of members of the community who have an interest in charter schools. This is evident by the rate structure of the membership dues. The activities of NASCA appeal to members of the community who are interested in charter schools.

		PART X FIN 48 FOOTNOTE NACSA is a not-for-profit organization that is exempt from income taxes under Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code. Accordingly, no provision for income tax expense is included in the financial statements. In accordance with Financial Accounting Standards Board (FASB) guidance, NASCA believes there are no significant uncertain tax positions resulting in liabilities that would have been required to be recorded for the years ended June 30, 2010 and 2009. NACSA's income tax and information returns for years subsequent to fiscal 2006 are open, by statute, for review by authorities. However, at present, there are no ongoing income tax audits or unresolved disputes with the various tax authorities that NACSA currently files or has filed with. Based upon the guidance for Accounting for Uncertainty in Income Taxes, NACSA did not have any uncertain tax positions requiring accrual in the financial statements at June 30, 2010.
