Walden is an arts-integrated, progressive, teacher-run elementary school in Berkeley, California. Our curriculum combines developmentally appropriate expectations with challenging units of study. The school's environment enhances each child's academic, emotional, social, and physical growth. Extended day-care is also provided. Parents and educators founded Walden Center & School in 1958 to create a learning environment that treats artistic expression as an essential element of every child's academic experience. Walden provided 17% of its annual tuition as financial aid. There were 73 students enrolled during the school year.

Form 990, Part III, Line 1 - Organization Mission

Walden Center and School is an independent, K-6 school where drama, music, and art sit alongside traditional academic subjects as our core curriculum. Walden's philosophy of education incorporates the following principles:

Integrating Arts and Academics - Artistic expression is an essential element of every child's education.

Engaging the Whole Child - Children learn best when their academic, emotional, physical, and social needs are addressed concurrently.

Seeing Children as Individuals - In designing and implementing curricula, we take an individualized approach in order to meet each child where he or she is developmentally.

Teaching as a Collective - The teachers run the school, which provides them with autonomy and flexibility in the classroom and direct participation in school-wide decision making.

Our approach to learning encourages creativity, collaboration, and critical thinking as means to help children develop a lifelong love of learning, a strong sense of community, and a powerful sense of self. Walden's graduates are self-directed and have a joyful confidence that allows these young people to contribute positively to the world around them.
