Supplemental Schedule #4
Part IX-A, Questions 1, 2, 3; Part XV-B, Form 990-PF

The original purposes of MeyerStation, Inc. still remain constant and have been the same since inception—wildlife conservation, preservation, maintaining habitat and education to the public for the value and care of nature.

Conservation—judicious use of advice from all to conserve the 137.455 acres used and involved as one of the few prime recognized freshwater wet-lands along the Big Patuxent River--a haven and a harbor for both migratory and indigenous animals, birds and fish. The entire area is under a State of Maryland Wildlife Enhancement agreement as well as a Forest Conservation Management Agreement.

Preservation---to use all knowledge and advice available to provide natural preservation strategies for the benefit of animals, birds, fish, soil and forest. This is a nature respite area surrounded by burgeoning residential areas and needs constant attention to keep it in natural situation against public and commercial intrusions.

Habitat—with shrinking feeding material in surrounding areas, assistance is given to wildlife by sowing wild grain as close to natural situation as possible, furnishing food grain, seed from County and State conservation sources, and building nesting facilities and the like. The habitat needs vary as the area supports beaver, deer, fox, raccoon, opossum, rabbit, squirrel, woodchuck, wildcat, muskrat and various and sundry small rodents and woodland reptiles. Birds include great blue heron, ducks, hawks, eagles, true bluebirds, Canadian geese, song birds, woodpeckers, sparrows, finches, recently re-introduced wild turkeys and others. The Audubon Society has identified some species as endangered

Education---classes and instruction given at no charge in natural surrounding to public school children, church groups, 4-H, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Audubon Society, Wild Turkey Federation, and others. Numerous discreet nature trails for reality observation traverse the area, even including one to accommodate wheel-chair visitors to allow them to witness natural settings.

An important sector of outdoor education is a gun range for the conduct of Hunter Safety courses. (five lengthy class sessions, all fully attended, were held this fiscal year with nearly 560 participant-completers). With the very few ranges left in the state that operate for hunter safety purposes, the Maryland DNR voluntarily offered a grant to towards keeping the range completely updated and improved. However, this grant was not accepted and the desired improvements were funded by MeyerStation, Inc. alone. This range is accredited by Anne Arundel County, State of Maryland and the Federal Government and serves the general public, Scout troops, and gives use to various police and governmental units.

The area has been on a no-charge reservation system of entry since the beginning of the facility. It serves and accommodates Scouts, FFA, 4H, public and private school classes, interested public, church services on a non-regular basis by visitors, use by professional and governmental organizations at no charge for the purposes of gun-safety instruction, gun sighting use, camping, nature classes and meetings.

Russell Meyer, retired, spends most of his time, unpaid, administering and operating MeyerStation, Inc. He does the major part of the work while receiving occasional donated help from family, officers, directors and also from the attendees that partake of the free use of the facility and then voluntarily offer help.
