Additional Information

Part III, line 4a

To continue support for supplemental education for approx 1085 children and 300 adults in eleven poor neighborhood communities. Teachers in public schools report a higher achievement by those attending VAMOS classes. Pre-school services are provided in all locations as well as two preschool centers for 42 children five days per week. Mothers are taught handcrafts which result in greater opportunities for socialization as well as income from the sale of crafts. Computer education is provided for 200 children with 50 laptops which are moved from site to site. This instruction benefits student achievement in their public school classes. Guitar lessons are given to 150 children. Teacher training is provided to selected teachers resulting in observable improvement in teaching skills.

Additional Information

Part III, line 4b

To continue support for nutritional feeding programs in eleven neighborhood settlements. Nutritiona and health have been improved through the provision of free nutritious meals to children and mothers attending 2,088 meal events and serving a total of 181,162 meals. Teachers report better attendance, attention and participation by students who regularly attend the meals program. The nutrition of menus is regularly evaluated and changed as necessary. The overall health is reported by our doctor to be good due in part to the nutritional meals.

Additional Information

Part III, line 4c

Continue our support for medical, dental, and psychological services in eleven neighborhood programs. Doctor consultations were given to 2,166 adults and children. Free medicine is provided. Payments are made to hospitals who provide treatment for chronic serious illnesses such as epilepsy, cancer, leukemia, diabetes, dengue, etc. Respiratory tract infections counted for most problems but parasites, urinary tract infections, and hypertension were also treated. Dental check-ups and treatment was provided to 623 children and 183 adults. Psychological advice and consultation regarding teenage problems, family difficulties, drugs, sexuality, and addiction were provided in group and private sessions for 200 adults and 150 teens.
