Statement of Program Service Accomplishments 2010

The organization's primary exempt purpose is educational/charitable.

The mission of hawkwing is two-fold:

- 1) to facilitate understanding among all cultures by promoting diversity and spiritual understanding (defined as 'who I am and what my mission in life is' and not by religious preference). We do this through outreach to all cultures and age groups through educational programs, diversity trainings and creative experiences. This is especially true for young people who we assist with healthy personal development and growth by offering programs in classrooms, places of faith, scouts, youth programs and other youth settings using, in part, Native American storytelling and Medicine Wheel Programs; and
- 2) to assist the Lakota/Sioux Indians in South Dakota – with emphasis on the Cheyenne River Lakota/Sioux Indian Reservation – to meet their basic human needs arising out of America's worst poverty. This includes distribution of holiday gift boxes to some 3,000 children, repairing homes of Elders and people with disabilities, renovating community buildings, assisting with emergencies including weather related disasters, support for Tribal and community programs including Veterans, Elders, children, and families, sponsoring medical and dental clinics and providing supplies and equipment for medical/disabilities needs.

Key to our work is helping young people and adults reconnect to community and gain personal power through understanding that they can make a difference in the world around them by volunteering. Substance abuse and other risky behavior avoidance is key to our youth focus. We also receive funding from various school districts in Connecticut to provide diversity education programs, violence prevention through our PeaceWorks program and bonding for moms and daughters through the Four Generations of Women program.

In 2010, we served over 3,000 children from pre-school through high school and some 3,500 adults including college students, faith communities, businesses and more. We also provide educational programs to adult groups including staff trainings in diversity, cross- cultural understanding and community mobilization.

The Eleventh Annual Holiday Give Away:

A key part of hawkwing's mission is to assist the people of the Lakota/Sioux nation to meet their basic needs arising out of extreme poverty. The Reservations of South Dakota are literally the poorest places in America with conditions that rival third world nations. The founder of hawkwing, Rochelle Ripley, is of Lakota descent and is strongly committed through the Agency to assist the tribes to regain economic self-sufficiency, cultural recognition and respect, and physical and emotional health. The focus is presently on the Cheyenne River Sioux Reservation in north central South Dakota. The Reservation is home to over 10,000 Lakota Sioux people and is approximately the size of the state of Connecticut. By US Census, it is the poorest place in America (US Census 2000 and 2010).

hawkwing conducts an annual Give Away each year for new items for children and Elders of the tribe. We also assist the tribal programs and schools. In 2010, the Eleventh Annual Give Away was held – delivering nearly about $300,000 of donated goods as well as services of some $150,000. We served 2,600 children from birth through 18 years and 500 Elders age 60 and older. The children each received a gift box containing school supplies, new books and toys, five to seven new clothing items and eight personal care items. On average, each child's box was valued at $100.00. Each Elder received various items including blankets, coats, shoes, and personal care products. The overall value was about $12,000. Tribal programs received another $50,000 worth of medical supplies, walkers, crutches, wheelchairs and other supplies. We were also able to assist the Veterans in stocking their new homeless shelter with kitchen items, food and blankets.

The Third Annual Moccasin Walk and Second Annual Helping Hands Project:

In May, we conducted the third Annual Moccasin Walk fundraiser to leverage funds for a housing rehabilitation and repair project during the summer titled Helping Hands. We raised $10,000 in cash donations and $500 in donated building materials. In late June, nine volunteers traveled to the Reservation with an agenda to repair four homes and complete repairs to the Dupree Community Center. However, three days prior to our arrival, the Reservation was devastated by 16 tornados which destroyed 34 homes, damaged many additional homes, businesses and community buildings and left people in desperate need of home goods, support and clothing. We immediately adjusted our plan and spent the six days and some 600 volunteer hours in clean up and repair in the Bear Creek, Dupree and Lantry districts. Repairs were made to the Bear Creek Community Shelter including the roof, bathrooms, kitchen and lighting. One volunteer – an MSW counselor with the assistance of a retired kindergarten teacher – ran trauma intervention sessions for the children in Bear Creek and at the YMCA in Dupree. Other volunteers participated in a community counseling session in Bear Creek. We spent a good amount of time working with the children who had a very difficult time with this disaster including repair of their small playground and distribution of bikes and sports equipment and the establishment of a small library in Bear Creek. Volunteers from hawkwing were supported by Lakota volunteers – both youth and adult as well as support from a Tribal Councilwoman.

Libraries:

To assist with literacy, hawkwing began a library program for students in late 2004 which expanded significantly in 2005 and has continued to grow each year. Working collaboratively with Reading Well for Kids in Meriden, CT, we continue to add to the existing eight sites for library access as well as expanding to the Cultural Center as the ninth site. Many children, anxious to have access to reading materials, ask to keep the books they take home. We are adding a used book component to the Cultural Center Library to allow children to pick from some books that they can keep in addition to those they return on loan. We estimate that there are some 14,000 volumes in circulation among the sites.

Ice Storm Emergency:

At the end of January 2010, the Reservation was devastated by a significant ice storm of some 6 inches of built up ice. It took down over 5,000 utility poles and froze and split the pumping station supplying water. For three weeks, while temperatures never went above zero – day or night – the People were without electric, water, heat and phone. We launched two levels of emergency help: first was a direct appeal to our donors which raised just over $20,000. This was used to supply food and water and other basic necessities through the local grocery store with an account managed by hawkwing. The second was outreach to national media. Keith Olbermann of MSNBC Countdown, picked up the effort and raised some $900,000 when learning from us what had occurred. This was coordinated with the Tribe directly and provided generators, heat cost and repairs to the damaged infrastructure.

Community Service/Volunteerism:

hawkwing is very proud of its level of mobilized volunteerism. We are firmly rooted in volunteer efforts promoting involvement of youth and adults in all aspects of the Agency both in Connecticut and on the Cheyenne River Sioux Reservation. All educational and cultural programs include donations for the Give Away usually in the form of donated new items. Thousands of adults and youth participate in small and large ways each year including organizing collecting and cash drives, delivering donations to the warehouse, warehouse organizing, packing of each child's gift package, loading a full sized semi-truck each December to go to South Dakota and unloading on the Reservation end, packaging "totem necklaces" as program supplies for over 6,000 participants each year, mission projects, traveling to the Reservation with the Give Away to assist with distribution, corporate outreach, office organization, publicity and fundraising. Warehouse space is donated by the Town of Glastonbury, CT. Shipping costs are donated by World Fulfillment Logistics of Plainville, CT. We are staffed with only 1.5 full time equivalent people. All tasks and services are provided by our volunteers – there are no paid staff.
