FORM 990, PART III, LINE 4A - StoryCorps 2010 Report on Activities

This year has been a busy and triumphant one for StoryCorps thousands of interviews were recorded and preserved, weekly national broadcasts were shared with millions, successful new national Initiatives were launched, and countless opportunities existed to inspire a meaningful national dialogue that puts a human face on divisive issues

StoryCorps touched millions of lives through our award-winning broadcasts. Our radio broadcasts give a broad audience the opportunity to engage with powerful, authentic, and thought-provoking stories Through NPR's Morning Edition, we reach 14 million listeners each week Our second book, Mom A Celebration of Mothers from StoryCorps, was a New York Times bestseller and reached #1 on the Los Angeles Times bestseller list

StoryCorps premiered animated shorts on public television in August on POV Our animations have been covered by more than 100 press outlets, were featured on the homepage of YouTube, and have already been viewed on the Internet more than 5 million times Richard Corliss of Time magazine called these animations. "Must-see, can't-miss, your-life-depends-on-it TV!"

StoryBooths captured nearly 6,000 stories of Americans from across the country. With our booths in New York, San Francisco, and Atlanta and our MobileBooths crisscrossing the country, we served scores of communities large and small, recording, sharing, and preserving legacies for future generations

Outreach efforts are central to our commitment to sharing stories of everyday people – especially those often excluded from the historical record.

StoryCorps dedicates over 25% of our interview slots to community partnerships representing the full spectrum of nonprofit services to seniors, families living in poverty, immigrants, children, the LGBT community, and others often overlooked by the mainstream media In 2010 we recorded stories in partnership with 500 community organizations from coast to coast

Special Initiatives allow StoryCorps to focus on specific populations that ensure our archive reflects the rich diversity of our nation

The Historias Initiative recorded more than 1,400 interviews across the country, becoming the largest collection of Latino voices ever gathered

The Memory Loss Initiative launched a unique program called Commemorate that features a step-by-step toolkit designed to help organizations serving the memory loss community to record, share, and preserve the stories of their clients, enhancing existing care activities

The Legacy Initiative, in its planning year, is creating a new model of therapeutic listening and engagement for people with life-threatening conditions

We are partnering with national and local palliative care and hospice care organizations to train their staff to conduct and record interviews on their own with the constituents they serve

StoryCorpsU, our new education program, piloted in two NYC public high schools serving majority black and Latino students in partnership with New Visions for Public Schools. StoryCorpsU, supporting academic achievement across multiple disciplines, is a powerful way for us to bring the message of StoryCorps to young people. that every story counts and every life matters equally. One school had this to say:

StoryCorps has emerged as one of our best teaching partners. Our StoryCorps curriculum is a vital way to help students focus on interpersonal connection, remember that communication is at the core of human progress and relationships, and discover that there is still nothing more powerful than the story one person can tell another.
