Overview

Camille Dreyfus directed that the Foundation's purpose be "to advance the science of chemistry, chemical engineering and related sciences as a means of improving human relations and circumstances." The Foundation has sought to identify and address needs and opportunities in the chemical sciences through a series of programs and awards.

In broad terms, the programs support young faculty of exciting potential or early accomplishment, develop leadership in environmental chemistry, support undergraduate research with eminent faculty, and openly solicit for projects that advance the chemical sciences at all levels.

Introduction Topic Eligibility Selection Nomination Procedure Required Information Award Ceremony

The Dreyfus Prize in the Chemical Sciences

Deadline: March 1, 2011

Announcement: early May 2011

Introduction

The Dreyfus Prize in the Chemical Sciences, awarded biennially, consists of a citation, a medal, and a monetary award of $250,000. The prize is awarded to an individual in a selected area of chemistry to recognize exceptional and original research that has advanced the field in a major way. The first Dreyfus Prize was awarded to George Whitesides of Harvard University in the field of materials chemistry, honoring the accomplishments of the Dreyfus brothers, Camille and Henry.

Topic

The 2011 Dreyfus Prize will be awarded in the field of catalysis.

Eligibility

The prize is restricted to U.S. residents. Nobel laureates are not eligible. Dreyfus Foundation Advisors and reviewers who serve in the year of the selection are not eligible. There is no restriction on the number of nominees who are at a given institution, nor is institutional approval required.

Selection

The prize is awarded to an individual unless the research that is the principal basis for the prize was done jointly. The award decision is based primarily on the originality and impact of the nominee's research, as described in the letters of nomination and support. If the cited research is substantially interdisciplinary, those aspects that represent original chemistry should be made clear.

Nomination Procedure

Any person may nominate a candidate for the Dreyfus Prize in the Chemical Sciences. Self-nominations are not accepted. All nomination materials and letters of support are due at the Foundation office by the deadline March 1, 2011. A final decision will be made by the Foundation's Board of Directors and announced in late April 2011.

Camille Dreyfus Teacher-Scholar Awards Program

Deadline: February 9, 2012Announcement: early May 2012

The Camille Dreyfus Teacher-Scholar Awards Program supports the research and teaching careers of talented young faculty in the chemical sciences. Based on institutional nominations, the program provides discretionary funding to faculty at an early stage in their careers. Criteria for selection include an independent body of scholarship attained within the first five years of their appointment as independent researchers, and a demonstrated commitment to education, signaling the promise of continuing outstanding contributions to both research and teaching. The Camille Dreyfus Teacher-Scholar Awards Program provides an unrestricted research grant of $75,000.

Eligibility

The Camille Dreyfus Teacher-Scholar Awards Program is open to academic institutions in the States, Districts, and Territories of the United States of America that grant a bachelor's or higher degree in the chemical sciences, including biochemistry, materials chemistry, and chemical engineering. Nominees must hold a full-time tenure-track academic appointment, and are normally expected to have been appointed no earlier than mid-year 2006. Institutions may submit only one Camille Dreyfus nomination annually.

Selection

The Foundation seeks Camille Dreyfus Teacher-Scholars who demonstrate leadership in research and education. Nominations must provide compelling evidence of the advance of important knowledge in the chemical sciences by the nominee. Further, the nomination should describe dedication and contributions to education in the chemical sciences, particularly with respect to undergraduates.

Recommendations for awards are based primarily on the nominee's scholarly research achievements as an independent faculty member, as assessed by the Foundation's reviewers and the judgment of the nominee's peers exemplified by letters of recommendation. Other considered factors are awards and honors, publication of research achievements in leading journals, and success in attracting funding of research. Nominations are reviewed by distinguished faculty in the chemical sciences. Current Camille Dreyfus Teacher-Scholars

Budget

The Camille Dreyfus Teacher-Scholar Award provides a $75,000 unrestricted research grant. Of the total amount, $7,500 is for departmental expenses associated with research and education. Charges associated with indirect costs or institutional overhead are not allowed. Defrayal of academic-year salary is not permitted. Funds are normally expended over a period of five years. Foundation approval is not required for budgetary changes after an award is made. If the awardee leaves the institution, the transfer of the remaining funds requires prior Foundation approval.

Postdoctoral Program in Environmental Chemistry

Deadline: August 25, 2011Announcement: Late October 2011

The Camille and Henry Dreyfus Foundation seeks to further the development of scientific leadership in the field of environmental chemistry with a postdoctoral fellowship program. The Postdoctoral Program in Environmental Chemistry provides a principal investigator with an award of $120,000 over two years to appoint a Postdoctoral Fellow in environmental chemistry.

Eligibility

The Postdoctoral Program in Environmental Chemistry is open to all academic and other not-for-profit organizations in the States, Districts, and Territories of the United States of America. Applications are accepted from principal investigators that have well-established research efforts in environmental science or engineering. These research activities need not be located in traditional departments in the chemical sciences, and collaboration across departments and institutions is encouraged.

Research Areas of Interest

Applications most likely to be of interest should describe innovative fundamental research in the chemical sciences or engineering related to the environment. Examples include but are not limited to the chemistry associated with: the climate, the atmosphere, aquatic or marine settings, toxicology, soil or groundwater. Also of interest are chemistry-related energy research (renewable sources, sequestration, etc.), and new or green approaches to chemical synthesis and processing, with a clearly stated relation to the environment.

Selection

Applications come from the principal investigator. Recommendations for awards are based on several factors: assessment of the proposed research, the arrangements for the interdisciplinary educational broadening of the Fellow, and an assessment of the ability to both attract the best young Ph.D. candidates and subsequently place them in high level independent starting positions. Applications are reviewed by distinguished scientists in the environmental and chemical sciences.

Current Postdoctoral Program in Environmental Chemistry awardees.

Announcement of current Postdoctoral Program in Environmental Chemistry awardees.

Budget

The Postdoctoral Program in Environmental Chemistry provides a $120,000 award, payable in two $60,000 installments. Funds are normally expended over a period of two years after the appointment of the Fellow. Charges associated with indirect costs or institution overhead are not allowed. Of the total annual award amount, the stipend support of the Fellow is $45,000 (stipends may be supplemented from institutional or other sources). Fringe benefits of the Fellow taken from this award may not exceed $9,000. The balance may be applied to related undergraduate research and/or the professional development of the Fellow. Examples of preferred use of the balance include stipends for undergraduate collaborators and support for the Fellow's participation in meetings, conferences, and symposia.

Application Procedure

All application materials must be received at the Foundation office by the deadline. Applications recommended for approval are presented to the Foundation's Board of Directors in time for award announcements by the end of October 2011

The Special Grant Program in the Chemical Sciences provides funding for innovative projects in any area consistent with the Foundation's broad objective to advance the chemical sciences.

Eligibility

The Special Grant Program in the Chemical Sciences is open to institutions in the States, Districts, and Territories of the United States of America that have a focus in the chemical sciences. Institutions include schools, colleges and universities, as well as other not-for-profit organizations, such as scientific societies and science museums. Awards are not made directly to individuals, or, in general, to private foundations

Selection

The Foundation encourages proposals that are judged likely to significantly advance the chemical sciences. Examples of areas of interest include (but are not limited to) the increase in public awareness, understanding, and appreciation of the chemical sciences, innovative approaches to chemistry education at all levels (K-12, undergraduate, and graduate), and efforts to make chemistry careers more attractive. Research proposals are not customarily considered.

Aspects of proposals that are important are

- broad applicability beyond the submitting institution
- specific and detailed descriptions of the chemistry associated with the proposal
- uniqueness of the project

Favorable consideration also is given to

- a plan for sustaining this project, if relevant
- significant institutional support or other sources of funding
- evidence of expertise of the PIs and/or identified consultants
- plans to assess effectiveness, including over the longer term

The Foundation's Web site has listings of awards approved in recent years. Applicants may review these listings for a general sense of the Special Grant Program, although the historical award listings do not imply a topical preference for projects. Current Special Grant Program Awardees.

Budget

The amount of support requested is determined by the applicant. A review of previous awards may be helpful in demonstrating typical grant sizes. Charges associated with indirect costs or institutional overhead are not allowed. Award funds are intended for the purposes described in the proposal and any major changes in the project's objectives, budget, or time frame require Foundation approval. If the principal investigator leaves the institution, the transfer of the remaining funds requires prior Foundation approval. Support for travel, conferences, individual scholarships and fellowships, endowments, and capital construction is not normally provided. Faculty, postdoctoral, and graduate student salaries are not customarily considered. Excessive travel budgets are discouraged.

Application Procedure

Initial Inquiry A letter requesting permission to submit a full proposal should be submitted to the Foundation for an initial assessment no later than May 2012. This initial inquiry, of three pages or less, will be assessed with respect to the Foundation's goals as described above. The letter, which does not require institutional approval, should describe what the project is about, why it is important, the goal of the project, and how Dreyfus support will be used to achieve the goal. Include a brief budget with a categorical description of how the funds would be spent. Institutional matching funds or other existing or proposed external resources supporting the project should be mentioned. Supplemental materials should not be included.

This initial inquiry may be sent by e-mail [admin@dreyfus.org] and must include the complete telephone and mailing address of the principal investigator. Institutions may submit inquiries for more than one project. E-mail submissions should be text messages, without graphics and pictures. Hard-copy duplicates are not required. Upon review of the initial inquiries, the Foundation will invite the submission of complete proposals.

Proposal Invited proposals must be received at the Foundation office by the deadline. Applications recommended for approval are presented to the Foundation's Board of Directors in time for award announcements by the end of October 2012.

Required Information

Application package The original application and five additional copies should be printed single-sided, on 8 1/2 x 11-inch paper, using 12-point font size, and assembled as:

1. The online application form
2. A one-page equivalent of an executive summary that answers the following:
 - What problem does the proposal address?
 - Why is it important?
 - How will what is proposed address the issue?
3. In six or fewer pages, a description of
 - the project in detail and its anticipated impact
 - how the project will be carried out, sustained (if relevant), disseminated, and assessed
 - institutional matching funds or other external resources available

4. A one-page CV of the project director(s) and/or consultants
5. A one-page categorical budget of the use of Dreyfus Foundation funding. If this is part of a larger project, also provide an overview of the total project budget and other sources of support.

Please fasten each copy of the application with one staple. The use of binder clips, paper clips, folders, colored paper or bond paper is discouraged.

Submit all application materials to

Dr. Mark Cardillo, Executive Director

Because of the volume of mail received near the program deadline, the Foundation requests that you use a delivery service that provides proof of delivery.

Reports

Technical and financial reports are due when the project is essentially completed. If the project extends substantially beyond the proposed end date, status reports are due by the originally proposed completion date. If multi-year support is granted, annual reports are requested.

All reports should be concise, printed single-sided, on 8 1/2 x 11-inch paper, using 12-point font size, and contain the following sections.

- 1 Highlights of accomplishments and assessment of success of the funded project
- 2 Plans for sustaining this effort, if appropriate
- 3 Categorical financial report (click here for categories)
- 4 An optional statement of newsworthy stories concerning the project

Submit the report by first-class mail to:

Jean Dreyfus Boissevain Lectureship for Undergraduate Institutions

2011 Deadline: August 18, 2011, announcement: late October 2011

2012 Deadline: May 2012, announcement: July 2012

The Jean Dreyfus Boissevain Lectureship awards provide an $18,500 grant to bring a leading researcher to a primarily undergraduate institution to give a series of lectures in the chemical sciences. The lecturer is expected to substantially interact with undergraduate students and faculty over the period of the visit. The program provides funds to host the speaker and support of summer research opportunities for two undergraduate students.

Eligibility

Applications for the Lectureship award will be accepted from departments in the chemical sciences at primarily undergraduate institutions in the States, Districts, and Territories of the United States of America. Eligible departments grant a BS or MS degree in chemistry, but not a PhD. Institutions are restricted to only one application annually for this program. Institutions that receive an award are not eligible to re-apply for five years.

Selection

Evaluation of the application is based upon the proposed invited lecturer and schedule of the visit, which is expected to be a minimum of two days. Included is an assessment of the department's efforts in scholarly research and education in the contemporary chemical sciences. Cited examples of the latter may include, but are not limited to, descriptions of the faculty research programs, internal and external research support, undergraduate participation in research, special educational or outreach efforts, the historical number of chemistry majors, and the number of those that go on to graduate school in the chemical sciences. Nominations are reviewed by distinguished faculty in the chemical sciences.

2010 Awards

- Bucknell University, Chemistry Department
- Claremont McKenna, Pitzer, and Scripps Colleges, Joint Science Department
