Part III - 4A: We provided high quality management and leadership learning opportunities to Public Leaders and non profit community leaders for the purpose of helping to improve their performance and service to US citizens.

We have a team of virtual contractors who serve as faculty, program managers and support specialists to keep our overhead low.

We consistently review and upgrade our program content to assure relevancy to public leaders and the highest possible quality at affordable prices.

Over the years we provided Facilitation Strategies for Public Leaders to the Public and Community Leaders in the City of New Bedford Mass,

Time Management to a non profit partner organization in Cambridge Ma and Systems Thinking for Public Leaders to a group of Federal State and Local Government Leaders in Denver, Colorado. The Public Sector Consortium invested in the design and creation of two new modular programs entitled Systems Thinking for Public Leaders and Facilitation Practices for Public Leaders. These program investments make it possible for organizations to train internal facilitators to deliver these skills and practices more broadly to their organizations.

Early in 2010 we offered the new Systems Program to the Department of the Navy. A new workshop Sustainable Leadership Practices for Public Leaders was offered at the National Council for Science and the Environment and to government officials in the country of Anguilla.

Our annual pro bono offering of a two day training program at no cost to public leaders continued in 2010. We continue to provide a no cost monthly teleconference as an opportunity for public leaders to share best practices and learn together on topics such as Ethics for Public Leaders and the new findings of Neuroscience and the impact on Leadership practices.

We continue to work to develop new approaches to learning and to offer relevant topics that are on the frontier of public leadership practices such as Sustainable Leadership Practices™ and Transitions Skills for Leaders.

We continue to expand our partnerships with other like minded non profits who share our mission. The target audience for our work is vast (local, state and federal public leaders) and we realize that we cannot possibly provide learning opportunities to all the public leaders who need our services.

Our web site www.public-sector.org provides publications and learning resources to leaders who want to continue their education on their own Our bibliography for public leaders is updated annually and is organized by essential areas of practice.

We will offer learning opportunities throughout 2011 as we continue to work on ways to lower our costs and keep our quality high so that leaders at all levels of government can access these important management and leadership professional skills and practices.
