Identifier	Return Reference	Explanation
Explanation of Easements Enforcement Policies	Part II, Line 5	Conservation easements require communications with landowners, monitoring visits at least once each year, reviewing landowner plans for changes that are addressed in the easement and approving or denying them, working with the organization's attorney to deal with violations and amdendments, and in some cases transferring easements to other organizations. Some easements require very little time and others require lengthy discussions, negotiations, repeated visits, and specific management. Maintaining good communication with landowners is the key factor in avoiding violations and legal quaqmires. As original Grantors pass on or transfer their property, it is especially important to quickly make contact and develop relationships with the new landowners and to help them understand the purpose and restrictions of the easement if necessary.
Description of How Organization Reports Conservation Easements	Part II, Line 9	Contributed conservation easements held by the Organization are not recorded in the financial statements because easements do not represent economic assets or resources. Purchased conservation easements are expensed on the date purchased.
	Part III, Line 4	Photos received in settlement of donor's estate. Proceeds upon sale will be applied towards future land conservation.
Description of Intended Use of Endowment Funds	Part V, Line 4	Operating endowment fund income is to be used for operating fund purposes (excluding land and conservation easement acquisitions) except as needed to be retained in the operating endowment fund so the purchasing power of the permanently restricted contributions is not eroded.
