Halloran Foundation - 2010
Summary of Direct Charitable Activities

The Halloran Foundation seeks to promote charitable causes through a variety of activities in addition to grant-making. In 2010 we made significant organizational investments in the following:

1. Development a staff capability to respond to the central charitable purposes of the Halloran Foundation

The Foundation retained several consultants in 2010 to serve as advisors in social capital markets, renewable energy and management development with expertise in CSR in order to respond to the mission of the Foundation. The employing of staff in these specialty areas has enabled the Foundation to support research, convene groups of experts and develop charitable programs designed to improve the social and economic conditions.

Total Expenses - $164,822

2. A clean energy and water program for the developing world

The Foundation is developing a program to alleviate poverty by providing clean energy and clean water by reducing the use of harmful kerosene and contaminated drinking water. The program will provide solar lighting, purified water and telecommunications to rural communities in the developing world with focus on India. One of the goals of the program will be to enhance enterprise development within the communities by providing vocational training along with business development. Meetings have taken place with various NGOs and government officials to launch projects in India.

Total Expenses - $136,089

3. The development of a Social Capital Program to include a global social stock exchange, an international conference on social capital markets in 2008 and a Hub for social entrepreneurs in Mexico.

Social Stock Exchange - The Foundation is providing staff support in the developing the business plan for a global social stock exchange; the first of its kind in the world.

Hub Oaxaca - The creation of a new model of Hubs for small urban, semi-rural and rural settings that will be replicated throughout Latin America. These Hubs will form a network of spaces for social innovation and change across the continent. To be prototyped in Oaxaca city these networked spaces will offer a new support infrastructure that will connect people and projects, strengthen local organizations and innovators and facilitate local, regional and global collaborations, thereby increasing the impact of Latin American social initiatives.

Total Expenses - $519,542

4. The development of programs designed to promote corporate social responsibility

History of Corporate Social Responsibility - Publication

In 2008, The Halloran Foundation and the Center for Ethical Business Cultures (CEBC) at the University of St. Thomas (Minnesota) launched a 3-year project to research and write U.S. and global histories of corporate responsibility. The anticipated work product will be two narrative volumes along with web access to supplementary material not included in the volumes themselves. The project team began its work in July 2008 and expects to complete and publish the history by mid-2011. Corporate responsibility is not new; variants date to the 19th century. However, the last 60 years have witnessed dramatic social, economic, environmental and regulatory challenges to business both in the U.S. and globally.

The World We ALL Want - Publication

The purpose of this project is to tell the story of how Harry Halloran created sustainable, profitable and progressive businesses that contribute value to their stakeholders. This publication is designed to help business leaders and students see philanthropy as more than just giving money to charity. The message of the project introduces the value of creative capitalism and the unlimited opportunities for social entrepreneurs and the impact of corporate social responsibility.

Total Expenses - $98,552
