Cost basis coming on Forms 1099-B in 2011: What you must know now
When certain securities that are acquired after January 1, 2011, are disposed of, RBC Wealth Management will be required to report the cost basis on Forms 1099-B to the IRS. The first-in, first-out (FIFO) lot selection method will be used unless you provide your Financial Consultant different instructions with each trade. It is important to consider the tax implications of your instructions, since the lot selection method cannot be changed once the trade has settled.

ASSET DETAIL

The Estimated Annualized Income (EAI) for certain securities could include a return of principal or capital gains, in which case EAI depicted on this account statement would be overstated. EAI is only an estimate of income generated by the investment and the actual income may be higher or lower. In the event the investment matures, is sold or called, the full EAI may not be realized.

* The Unrealized Gain/Loss may not reflect your investments' total return. Specifically, the net cost may include dividend and capital gains distributions which have been reinvested. Additionally, the information that appears in these columns may be based on information provided by you or at your direction. RBC has not verified such data.
