The information provided on the Realized Gains and Losses report regarding fixed income securities is supplementary in nature. The report does NOT include amortization or accretion of any bond transactions. The Milestone Group's general policy is to leave the treatment of amortization/accretion for these positions to the discretion of the client or the client's tax advisor.

The Milestone Group cannot ensure that acquisition dates and cost basis for assets acquired prior to our management are accurate in their entirety. In cases where assets were acquired prior to The Milestone Group involvement, the cost basis may either be reported as $0 or reflect the correct cost basis if we have been provided the information. Acquisition dates for those assets may reflect the date the asset was received by the custodian and not the original acquisition date. Where these cases exist, feel free to provide the information to us and we will update your reports.

Specific 1099 information as reported by the custodian and supplied to the IRS should be relied upon for tax reporting purposes.

Be aware that any gains pertaining to Treasury Inflation Protected Securities (TIPS) inflation accruals may be instead taxable as interest income in current and/or prior periods. As a result, adjustments to TIPS cost basis are likely necessary to account for changes in the inflation factor to the extent previously recognized as taxable interest income. This report excludes mutual fund capital gain distributions, which are reported on Form 1099 along with other portfolio income including interest and dividends received.
