Briefly describe the organization's mission.

more than 170 pediatric hospitals in North America. The organization is unique in that the money that is raised in each community benefits the local participating Children's Miracle Network hospital.
To ensure children's hospitals have the resources they need, Children's Miracle Network's partners conduct thousands of special events and grassroots fundraisers year-round. Corporate partners sell "Miracle Balloons," radio and television stations broadcast stories of medical miracles, and college students hold "Dance Marathons"- just a few of the programs generating millions of dollars each year to provide the life-saving care and crucial services kids need. Greater Orlando Children's Miracle Network was formed in 1997 to coordinate the fundraising efforts of Children's Miracle Network sponsors and programs in the Greater Orlando area.

Shands Children's Hospital at the University of Florida, Arnold Palmer Hospital for Children and Winnie Palmer Hospital for Women & Babies Neonatal Intensive Care Unit are the participating Children's Miracle Network hospitals in Central Florida and share the funds raised through Greater Orlando Children's Miracle Network. Funds are used to purchase patient care equipment, fund research and provide educational programs and diversionary activities that help Shands Children's Hospital and Arnold Palmer Hospital save and improve the lives of children.
