CONFLICT OF INTEREST

1. Confidentiality of Trust Records

- a. Policy – employees must maintain the confidentiality of the bank's fiduciary relationships.
- b. Procedures – bank employees will not reveal information about trust accounts to unauthorized parties and will disclose trust records only in the following circumstances:
 1. Information is requested by a party whose beneficial interest entitles him or her to the information under the law.
 2. Information is ordered by a court or by a subpoena.
 3. Information is requested by federal or state banking authorities with an official interest in examination and supervision of the bank.
 4. The Investment Committee determines that disclosure is in the best interests of the account.

2. Conflicts of Interest

- a. Policy – Officers, directors, and employees of the bank will be free from any conflict of interest with the beneficiaries and fiduciary accounts.
- b. Procedures
 1. Officers, directors, and employees will not:

- Personally profit from business information or opportunities obtained as a result of a position with the bank.

2. No officer or employee of the bank may:
- Receive anything of value in connection with any business transaction involving bank activities.*
 - Receive loans from fiduciary clients.
 - Serve as a co-fiduciary without the consent of the bank administrative committee. Receipt of any compensation for acting as co-fiduciary is discouraged and must be approved by the board of directors (12 CFR 9.15).

3. Bank personnel who make recommendations or decisions for accounts, participate in the determination of such recommendations or decisions, or know which securities are being purchased, sold, or recommended for action are in a position to benefit from such knowledge. They will not use the information for their own benefit or for the benefit of close relatives. 12 CFR 12 and the Investment Advisor Act of 1940 require reporting of trading activity of officers involved in the investment decision making process.
4. Each bank employee who is close to the investment process must file a quarterly report of personal investment transactions. It has been concluded that each investment officer and all of our administrators, together with those bank officers who have access to the investment process through the First Merchants Trust Company Board of Directors, must file these reports.

The regulations (CFR Section 12.7) do not require that the forms be forwarded to a federal agency; only that they be maintained for a period of three years for inspection presumably by the Trust or bank examiners.

3. Inside Information

- a. Policy – Material inside information will not be used to trade the securities of a company, nor will it be used for the benefit of officers, directors, and employees of the bank or disclosed to other persons.
- b. Procedures – Material inside information is information about a company or the market for the company's securities that has not been generally disclosed to the marketplace, the dissemination of which is likely to affect significantly the market price of the company's securities or to be considered important by reasonable investors in determining whether to trade in such securities.

SECTION: GENERAL POLICIES

EFFECTIVE DATE:

1. An employee who receives material inside information should communicate this fact to the chairman of the Investment Committee, and should not discuss the information inside or outside the bank. The Chairman of the Investment Committee, with advice of counsel, will decide whether the information is material and has not been made public, since material information may not be used until it has been fully disseminated to the public. Until then, no trading in the securities of the company is permitted either for trust accounts or for personal accounts.
2. Access to affiliate bank credit files is prohibited to trust investment personnel. Other bank personnel may have access only with the permission of the chairman of the Investment Committee.

4. Transactions Affecting the Bank

- a. Policy – Transactions between the bank and its affiliates, as well as transactions affecting bank securities and bank activities, will be conducted to avoid a conflict of interest that would favor the bank at the expense of trust beneficiaries.

b. Procedures

1. Investments for fiduciary accounts. Unless authorized by applicable law, the bank may not invest fiduciary funds where the bank has investment discretion in the stock, or obligations of, or assets acquired from:
 - The bank or any of its directors, officers, or employees.
 - Affiliates of the bank or any of their directors, officers, or employees.
 - Individuals or organizations with whom there exists an interest that might affect the bank's ability to exercise its best judgment.

- The bank or any of its directors, officers, or employees.
- Affiliates of the bank or any of their directors, officers, or employees.
- Individuals or organizations with whom there exists an interest that might affect the bank's ability to exercise its best judgment.

(This rule is not applicable when the bank is advised by legal counsel that it has incurred, in its fiduciary capacity, a contingent or potential liability requiring reimbursement of the account, or where an investment has defaulted.)

3. Loans of funds held as trustee. The bank will not lend any funds held in trust to directors, officers, or employees, except for the exemptions listed in section 408 of the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 (ERISA).

4. Loans to fiduciary accounts. The bank or its affiliates may make a loan to a fiduciary account and may hold a security interest in assets of the account if the transaction is fair to the account.

5. Transactions Between Trusts

- a. Policy – transactions between trust accounts must be fair to both parties and are permitted if not prohibited by applicable laws.
