The Schedule of Realized Gains and Losses is not reported to the IRS. This Schedule may not reflect all cost basis adjustments necessary for tax reporting purposes; for example, it does not reflect disallowed losses from wash sale events. Adjustments to cost basis may have been made for prior income received and subsequently reclassified by the issuer as a return of capital. Typically these adjustments are received after year-end and there may be differences in cost basis reflected on your monthly client brokerage statement at year end versus any subsequent reports or online displays you may have available to you. Return of capital information has been obtained from sources we believe to be reliable.

When you report your cost basis on your tax return, it should be verified with your own records. In particular, there may be other adjustments which you need to make and you should consult with your tax advisor in order to properly report your gain or loss for tax purposes. Pershing shall not be responsible for and makes no representations or warranties with respect to the accuracy of any information that you report to the IRS or other taxing authorities, and, accordingly, disclaims any and all liability that may arise with respect to your use and reliance on the information provided herein for such reporting.

Cost Basis on fixed income securities is adjusted for amortization, accretion or principal paydowns. The method of calculation is based upon the type of fixed income security and certain attributes, obtained from sources believed to be reliable. In the event, one or more of these attributes is changed, there may be a temporary incorrect adjusted cost basis reflected until the portfolio system is amended to reflect this change. These calculations will not be performed under certain circumstances, including those involving continuously callable bonds, foreign bonds, variable rates, bonds in default, index-linked bonds, bonds sold short or bonds that have a negative yield. This information is meant as a general guide and you should consult your tax advisor in the preparation of your tax returns.

There may be differences between the Schedule of Realized Gains and Losses and 1099 reporting. Below are some of the reasons for these differences:

- ♦ Account Number Changes - If your account number changed during the year, the Schedule of Realized Gains and Losses may have been transferred from the original account to the new account. The new account will provide you with the complete Schedule of Realized Gains and Losses. However, you will receive a complete 1099 for each account open during the year.
- ♦ Corporate Actions - For corporate actions, especially cash and stock mergers, the Schedule of Realized Gains and Losses may report the economic gain or loss resulting from the transaction, including the value of any stock or securities received. Thus, the Schedule of Realized Gains and Losses may report no capital gain, a capital gain equal to the difference between the original cost basis versus the fair market value of the new security, or a capital gain equal to the cash received, depending on the terms of the corporate action. In all events, however, the 1099 will only report the cash portion of the corporate action.
- ♦ Cost Basis Service Enrollment - The Schedule of Realized Gains and Losses will only be displayed for closing transactions during the period the account was enrolled in the cost basis service. However, proceeds will be reported on the 1099 for the full year.
