pertaining to unrelated business income, if any. In fiscal year 2010, the Society and the Memorial adopted the accounting standard on accounting for uncertainty in income taxes, which addresses the determination of whether tax benefits claimed or expected to be claimed on a tax return should be recorded in the financial statements. Under this guidance, the Society and the Memorial may recognize the tax benefit from an uncertain tax position only if it is more likely than not that the tax position will be sustained on examination by taxing authorities, based on the technical merits of the position. Examples of tax positions include the tax-exempt status of the Society and the Memorial and various positions related to the potential sources of unrelated business taxable income (UBIT). The tax benefits recognized in the financial statements from such a position are measured based on the largest benefit that has a greater than 50 percent likelihood of being realized upon ultimate settlement. There were no unrecognized tax benefits identified or recorded as liabilities during the year.

The Society and the Memorial file Forms 990 in the U.S. federal jurisdiction and the State of Illinois. With few exceptions, the Society and the Memorial are no longer subject to examination by the Internal Revenue Service for years before 2008.

Form 990, Part VI, Section B, line 11: The organization's tax advisor will prepare the Form 990 based upon information provided by management and will present a draft to the Finance Director. The Finance Director will review and suggest changes. Upon the Finance Director's approval, the draft will then be presented to the Audit Committee for review. Audit Committee recommendations and changes will be incorporated and the final Form 990 will be provided to each committee member of the Audit and Finance Committee for their final review prior to filing.

Form 990, Part VI, Section B, Line 12c: Each agency stakeholder, including board members and key employees, is provided with a written copy of the agency's conflict of interest policy annually in compliance with the conflict of interest policy. It is the responsibility of the Executive Director and Chairperson of the Board of Directors to ensure that all agency stakeholders maintain compliance with the conflict of interest policy. The forms are reviewed by the agency's executives and, if a conflict arises, the Board President is made aware.

Form 990, Part VI, Section B, Line 15: CCCS develops and utilizes a salary survey in determining employee compensation with the salary scale. Jobs are grouped according to the education level required to perform them, as well as the complexity of responsibilities associated with the job. A salary scale is then determined for each job family. CCCS utilizes an independent consultant to review and recommend the salary scales. In addition, salary studies conducted by salaries.com, Abbott Langer and The Child Welfare League of America are used to ensure that salary levels mirror those of other non-profit organizations in urban, Midwestern locations.
