The World Affairs Challenge (WAC) is a project-based learning program for middle and high school students designed to build their knowledge, skills, attitudes, and behaviors for global competence. Through the program, students explore an annual global theme, identify a topic and problem for further research, and explore solutions to their problem at the local, national, and global level. Students prepare and present knowledge-to-action plans to demonstrate how they can be involved in implementing their solution. Ultimately, the program empowers students to take informed action to address 21st-century challenges locally and globally. It also enhances student learning, teaching them critical thinking and collaborative leadership skills that they bring with them into the rest of their studies.

Form 990, Part III, Line 4a - Program Service Accomplishments

Youth Engagement: World Savvy offer dynamic arts and media and academic programming for youth ages 10-18, including experiential workshops, field trips, and knowledge-to-action opportunities for youth to translate learning about complex global issues into problem solving in their communities, locally and globally. These programs allow students ownership over the subjects they explore, and facilitate a sense of personal connection and responsibility to the outcomes derived from the learning process. The Youth Engagement Programs run on three-year program theme cycles; currently and through 2013, the theme is Sustainable Communities.

The American Youth Leadership Program is sponsored by the Bureau of Educational and Cultural Affairs of the U.S. Department of State. Through this program, World Savvy will travel with 30 students and 5 teachers to Bangladesh to engage them in an in-depth study of climate change. Students will then return to the U.S. and implement social action projects in their local communities. The goal of the program is to foster mutual understanding, respect, and civic engagement among young Americans and their Bangladeshi peers.

- Professional Development: World Savvy provides individual educators, administrators and educational/cultural institutions with a range of professional development services to build content knowledge, skills, and values & attitudes needed to educate for global competency.

- Customized Consulting: World Savvy provides specialized services for schools and educational/cultural institutions with specifically defined needs in global education, including: program design and development, curriculum development, professional development design and facilitation, and experiential learning plans.

- Educational Resources: World Savvy provides rigorous, relevant and comprehensive global education resources which are free and accessible to teachers across disciplines. These resources provide foundational content for our professional development workshops and customized consulting engagements, providing support for the integration of global issues into instruction and helping to sustain this integration with updates and community building among educators.

Form 990, Part III, Line 4b - Program Service Accomplishments

The Global Youth Media and Arts Program (MAP) is an interdisciplinary art and media education program for middle and high school youth and educators in New York and San Francisco. The MAP illuminates the connections between local and global issues and helps young people learn to use art and media as tools for self-expression, dialogue, and community engagement. Using local communities as classrooms, the MAP provides diverse opportunities for students to explore all aspects of a critical global theme through experiential workshops and field trips. MAP Educators gain access to high-quality professional development that enhances their capacity to integrate the arts and global issues into classroom instruction across disciplines, as well as access to premium curriculum and resources. The MAP culminates with a Media & Arts Festival in New York and San Francisco each spring, showcasing the art and media created by students in the program, with an expected attendance of more than 15,000 community members.
