Check if Schedule O contains a response to any question in this Part III

1

Briefly describe the organization’s mission

The Institute's mission is to improve human health through innovative genetic research and education. Research at the Institute focuses on understanding the genetic control of normal development and susceptibility to neurological diseases using the mouse as the model system. The Institute also offers research internships for students and teachers.

2

Did the organization undertake any significant program services during the year which were not listed on the prior Form 990 or 990-EZ?

3

Did the organization cease conducting, or make significant changes in how it conducts, any program services?

Describe the exempt purpose achievements for each of the organization’s three largest program services by expenses. Section 501(c)(3) and 501(c)(4) organizations and section 4947(a)(1) trusts are required to report the amount of grants and allocations to others, the total expenses, and revenue, if any, for each program service reported.

(Code) (Expenses $ 3,897,872 including grants of $ 868,723) (Revenue $ 3,043,870)

Scientists at the Institute are attacking the challenging problem of Alzheimer’s disease (AD) from many angles. AD is one of a class of several deadly brain diseases being studied at the Institute, and pieces of the Alzheimer’s puzzle could come from any of the studies on any of these disorders, which include prion diseases, Parkinsonism, frontotemporal dementia, and dementia with Lewy bodies. Institute scientists are applying their recently developed methods for a systems approach of prion infection to frontotemporal dementia and AD. These and similar studies open the door to eventual identification of apparently healthy people destined to develop degenerative brain diseases in later life. More than 15 publications authored by Institute scientists were published in scientific journals during the last fiscal year.

4b

(Code) (Expenses $ 100,212 including grants of $ 86,400) (Revenue $ 125,119)

The Institute serves as a resource for science education in a rural region lacking a research university. Summer internships for high school students and teachers have long been available at the Institute. A grant from the Howard Hughes Medical Institute allowed expansion of this program to foster supplements and improvements to the curriculum and to offer public lectures on scientific topics for the community. The goal of the Institute’s education programs are to foster critical thinking, enhance science literacy and help train the next generation of scientists. In the past summer, 6 students, 7 teachers, and 3 undergraduates participated in the Institute’s laboratory or science education internship programs.
