FACTS OF LIFE

Background

The Val Skinner Foundation (the Foundation) was established in October 1999 as a New Jersey 501 (c) 3 not-for-profit corporation. The Foundation's main focus has been to raise money to support organizations whose primary activities are centered on breast cancer research, treatment and education. To that end, the Foundation created LIFE (LPGA Pros In the Fight to Eradicate Breast Cancer). The LPGA (Ladies professional golf association) family, unfortunately like so many, has discovered firsthand the devastating effects of breast cancer on the victims, their families and friends. We owe it to the memory of those who have lost their lives to this disease to take an active role in raising funds to help find a cure. It is the mission of LIFE to help eradicate breast cancer as a life threatening disease. A key element of the mission is to reach a younger generation of women with information about early detection and the importance of healthy breast care practices.

It is imperative for us to set very aggressive goals and to work with organizations that enable us to set the landscape for launching initiatives that help us to accomplish our mission. Therefore, the Foundation has taken a very active role not only in fundraising for this campaign, but also in the development and implementation of the initiatives. The Foundation has hosted eleven LIFE Events and made history by donating the largest sum to breast cancer research, treatment and education through a single day event. To date, the Foundation has donated over $6.8 million to our benefactors.

LIFE's Benefactors and Breast Cancer Initiatives

Although the diagnosis of breast cancer is life altering to women of all ages, the impact of this diagnosis on younger women is particularly devastating. The 33 year old mother diagnosed with breast cancer during a subsequent pregnancy, the 29 year old newlywed that has yet to begin her family, and the 25 year old co-ed facing and imminent radical surgical procedure, speak to the need to better recognize and understand breast cancer in this under-represented population.

Susan G. Komen for the Cure ("Komen") is the LPGA's official national charity and the nation's largest private funder of research dedicated solely to breast cancer. Its National Grant Program funds innovative breast cancer education, screening and treatment programs. Together with Komen, the Foundation co-conceptualized the idea of a young women's breast cancer initiative. With our funding, Komen has completed a needs assessment study, which was designed to identify the most appropriate and effective way to reach this generation of women. Based on the results of the needs assessment, Komen developed and implemented a strategic plan for the roll out of the initiative, which involves a multifaceted approach to educating young women as well as, healthcare providers regarding awareness, breast cancer risks and early detection. Komen utilizes the funds donated by LIFE to launch the outreach programs associated with this national initiative. Young women in their twenties and thirties are receiving information, for the first time ever, about the importance of healthy breast care practices. The Foundation also funded and participated in the development of “On the Way to the Cure – the Komen College Tour” which was launched in September 2004. This tour was designed to empower young women to make positive, life-long decisions about breast health that could save their lives. Starting at Rutgers University in New Brunswick, New Jersey, this interactive educational tour traveled the eastern seaboard and took the message of the Young Women’s Initiative and early breast health care to women and men on multi-cultural and demographically diverse college campuses. The tour traveled to ten colleges and universities in a large pink vehicle that served as an interactive learning station at each stop. As part of the experience students learned how to perform breast self-exams (BSE) with the help of Komen’s online BSE instructional tool, as well as about opportunities for local and national involvement in the cause. In addition, health care personnel were available to answer questions and provide information about how to schedule a clinical breast exam at the campus health center. Additionally, the tour featured prizes and giveaways including Ipods, pre-paid calling cards, GUND LIFE Bears and more. Students also had the opportunity to share a memory or pledge their personal support in the fight against breast cancer on an eight-foot “graffiti wall” that stayed behind when the tour left as a reminder of what was learned at the event. This effort, which was the first of its kind, reached thousands of students with potentially life-saving messages. Due to the overwhelming positive response from the pilot run the tour was renamed, “On the Way to the Cure – Komen on the Go”, and expanded to twenty college stops and fourteen community events throughout the country in 2005. In 2006, the tour expanded to include 45 stops and 160 in 2007. The 2008 “Komen on the Go” visited the Republican and Democratic National Conventions, 3-Day events plus Race for the Cure events, Garth Brooks Concerts, NASCAR, LPGA and other community events around the nation, this tour visited 50 college campuses across the nation. “Komen on the Go” concluded a successful cross-country tour in 2009, 2010 and 2011 bringing the total stops to 650 sites. To date the total audience attendance at Komen on the Go sites total 21.5 million.

The Cancer Institute of New Jersey (CINJ) is the state's first and only National Cancer Institute Designated Cancer Center. CINJ has developed a high-risk breast cancer program, which has been named the “LIFE Center” after this advocacy. Education of health care practitioners and the young women they serve about breast cancer risk, screening and prevention has been the major focus of the LIFE Center. The LIFE Center serves as the laboratory for the development and evaluation of novel educational tools and strategies for community education of young women. The LIFE Center has established a multidisciplinary team of breast cancer experts including medical oncologists, surgeons, geneticists, genetic counselors, psychologists and nurse practitioners, to study unique causes, identify risk factors and develop effective preventive strategies for young women at risk and their families. CINJ is also actively involved in the Young Women’s Initiative through the development of a multi-pronged approach to increase breast cancer awareness, utilizing the donation from the LIFE Event to support the clinical, educational and research activities of the LIFE Center. Additionally, CINJ has established a post-doctoral “LIFE Fellowship” which focuses on the development of an educational intervention in the high school setting called BioCONNECT. BioCONNECT means, biology of cancer, on-line education, connecting teens. This new science curriculum uses breast cancer as the context and is designed to be integrated into high school biology courses. Through hands-on experiments, role-plays, games and cooperative learning activities, the BioCONNECT curriculum provides teachers with innovative methods to address state and national science education standards (improves science skills) while increasing breast cancer awareness. Through the curriculum, students explore how scientific inquiry and technological design can be used to appropriately pose questions, seek answers and develop solutions, expand their understanding of the structure and function of cells and their organelles, and apply their knowledge of the molecular basis of heredity. Students also learn how cancer develops, identify risk factors for cancer and investigate ways to reduce cancer risk. Several New Jersey school districts are participating in BioCONNECT. We have carefully selected other southern states for the program, see (LIFE Center summary page). Our funding has also enabled CINJ to expand the LIFE Center's services to reach New Jersey area hospitals. Morristown Memorial Hospital, Overlook and Robert Wood Johnson University Hospital at Hamilton. Through this expansion these hospitals have the opportunity to draw on the LIFE Center's resources, research and experience. Young women at risk who visit the LIFE Center satellite locations are counseled on available medical options to manage their risk and are provided with a management plan tailored to their unique level of risk. Our work in 2006 enabled further expansion of the LIFE Center to CentraState Medical Center and in 2010 Somerset Medical Center and the University Medical Center at Princeton were added to the satellite network. We now have six new resource centers for genetic counseling. CINJ continues to identify hospitals for additional satellite locations. We saw over 430 new patients in the LIFE Centers in 2008, greater than 60% returned for one or more follow up visits. In 2009, the LIFE Centers had 502 new patient visits with 300 patient returns and an overall increase of 8.5% from 2008 and equal increases in 2009 and 2010. The overall volume increased 25% in 2011.

The Foundation also provides support to the Young Survival Coalition (YSC) which is the only international non-profit organization dedicated to the critical concerns and issues unique to young women and breast cancer. The Foundation has granted funds to the YSC to provide a portion of the funding for data analysis of a study which was done in connection with Mt Sinai School of Medicine Department of Genetics. This study survey of young women which included questions covering demographics, quality of life, pregnancy, family history of cancer, medical history, treatment history, genetic testing, medical and social support will help determine what issues specific to this population need to be brought to the forefront of the medical, research and breast cancer communities for further action and study. Additionally, the Foundation has provided funding to the YSC to support initiatives within their Metastatic Breast Cancer Program. In 2008 The Foundation made the largest contribution to the coalition to expand their service areas in the southern states and during 2009 a needs assessment was conducted in the southern states. As a result 2010 and 2011 newly diagnosed patient kits will be distributed directly to patients at five cancer centers in these southern states.

Awareness Campaigns

In 2000, we also launched a national awareness campaign in collaboration with GUND, the New Jersey based plush toy manufacturer. The "LIFE Awareness Bear" products are for sale throughout the United States, as well as, Canada, Denmark and Taiwan. Each product, including a golf club head cover, has a hangtag with information about The Val Skinner Foundation, CINJ, the Komen Foundation and the Young Women's Initiative in addition to self-exam instructions. These products are being sold through retail outlets, golf pro shops, on-line and PGA Shops in many of the nation's airports. It is our hope this bear will be a reminder to all women who see it to do their self-exams. In January 2006, this boutique-line of golf accessories and plush toys sweetened with the addition of our Scottie Dog, Sinclair. The 2008 season introduced BOGEY Bear as the newest member of the LIFE Line Family. This awareness campaign continues to succeed through the years.

LIFE Event

LIFE will be held at Mountain Ridge Country Club in West Caldwell, New Jersey. The Foundation honors the memory of Former First Lady and breast cancer survivor, Betty Ford as the National Honorary Chair. Jack Ford, TV personality, serves as the Co-host. In addition to the most elite women golfers in the world, the Foundation has persuaded other professional athletes to sign on to their mission.

2011 Media Snapshot

Estimated total impressions: 582,876,250*

Estimated total dollar value for impressions: $7,975,250*

Total does not include millions of web impressions*

The LIFE event is promoted through a variety of marketing channels with a specific focus on promotion through publicity. An annual public relations campaign is conducted that proactively pitches the LIFE story and all its components to local, regional and national lifestyle and sports media outlets. This annual campaign results in millions of impressions for the event, its supporters and participants. Sponsors receive the value of both direct acknowledgements in some placements as well as the value of association with the LIFE Event and the positive reputation that it has grown with the media over the years in general placements. The millions of annual impressions also do not include the numerous placements on many of the nation's most reputable and popular news outlets.

In addition, sponsors receive added value promotion such as inclusion in press materials distributed to hundreds of media outlets annually, acknowledgement in the annual LIFE LINES newsletter also distributed to key media representatives and LIFE constituents each year and a presence on the Val Skinner Foundation web site which is the hub of LIFE information to which all media outlets are directed for more information about LIFE.

2011 HIGHLIGHTS

In 2011, Susan G Komen On the Go

- Was on exhibit for 87 days in more than 25 cities in 20 States across the Nation
- Attended community events, colleges, and universities with a cumulative audience of more than 2.5 million people
- Educated and interacted directly with nearly 63,000 constituents
- Reached more than 1 million people through social media engagement
- Distributed more than 250,000 letters of thanks from the Val Skinner Foundation and its donors, along with life saving educational materials from Susan G Komen
- Generated 34 million media impressions for the program nationwide with a total media value of over $600,000

Reaching out to priority audiences of young women, including African Americans and Hispanics, Komen On the Go was present at the following National events in 2011

- The Susan G Komen Global Race for the Cure in Washington D C
- West Oak Lane Jazz Festival in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania
- Detroit River Days Festival in Detroit, Michigan
- Chicago International Festival of Life in Chicago, Illinois
- Indiana Black Expo in Indianapolis, Indiana
- Chicago Black Expo
- Missouri State Fair
- Tom Joyner Family Reunion in Orlando, Florida
- Texas State Fair
- NASCAR Bank of America 500 in Charlotte, North Carolina
- North Carolina State Fair

Komen On the Go also visited 36 college and university campuses from New Jersey to California

99% of constituents surveyed said Komen On the Go helped them understand the importance of early detection, and 97% said that Komen On the Go increased their breast own knowledge of cancer and their

LIFE Center Accomplishments

- In 2002, the Val Skinner Foundation partnered with The Cancer Institute of New Jersey (CINJ) to establish the LIFE Center, which brings together a multidisciplinary team of breast cancer experts to educate health care professionals and the women they serve about breast cancer risk, screening, and prevention. These experts include medical oncologists, surgeons, genetic counselors, psychologists, social workers, and nurse practitioners.
- As part of the LIFE Center, the Hereditary Oncology Prevention and Evaluation (HOPE) Program provides genetic counseling and risk assessment for individuals concerned about their risk to develop cancer. Cancer genetic counseling helps young women recognize the role family history plays in cancer risk, and understand when genetic testing is appropriate. Young women who attend the LIFE Center are counseled about available medical options to manage their risk and are provided with a management plan tailored to their unique level of risk. More than three thousand individuals have met with the HOPE Program through the LIFE Center, including more than five hundred people in 2011 alone. This figure represents a net increase in volume of 25% compared to 2010, with the staffing of three full time genetic counselors. The genetic counselors had the privilege of serving one of our youngest breast cancer patients diagnosed with breast cancer at age 24 as well as her 20 year old sister, both of whom have a BRCA mutation.
- In September of 2011, the LIFE Center hosted a symposium for BRCA carriers. This event was the first of its kind in Central New Jersey, serving an underserved population. The program included elite speakers from the field of cancer genetics including Dr. Judy Garber, as well as speakers from a variety of disciplines including plastic surgery (Dr. Brian Glatt) and patient advocacy (Barbara Pfeiffer, Chief Executive Officer from FORCE-Facing Our Risk of Cancer Empowered). It was an extremely well-received event that highlighted the local expertise and support offered through the LIFE Center. This symposium will also lead to future efforts aimed to provide ongoing support and education to this high risk population.
- The LIFE Center has expanded to provide genetic counseling services to six affiliate hospitals throughout New Jersey, including Morristown Memorial Hospital, Overlook Hospital, CentraState Medical Center, CINJ-Hamilton, University Medical Center at Princeton, and a new contract has been signed with Mountainside Medical Center. By opening additional LIFE Centers throughout New Jersey, the LIFE Center is able to provide young women across the state with access to comprehensive breast cancer related information and treatment close to home. Both existing and new affiliate sites have done well with an increasing number of physician referrals for LIFE Center services provided at affiliate sites. For example, Morristown and Overlook have experienced a net volume increase of 28% over the past year. The newest site in 2011, Princeton Medical Center, has strongly endorsed the LIFE Center's efforts through marketing its mission, and the program has been well received.

- Funding from the LIFE Center supports prominent researchers in the field of breast cancer genetics as they study hereditary factors that may cause early onset breast cancer. These researchers are examining how genetic variations between individuals influence a woman's personal breast cancer risk or a woman's response to specific treatments such as radiation and chemotherapy. Clinical trials involving drugs, known as PARP-inhibitors, are available under the direction of CINJ investigators. These trials have the potential to offer specific, targeted therapy to our patients affected with a BRCA-associated cancer. PARP-inhibitors are an example of how a better understanding of the unique genetic characteristics of breast cancer will lead to discoveries that have implications for both treatment and prevention of breast cancer in young women.
- BioCONNECT (Biology of Cancer, Online Education Connecting Teens) was developed as an innovative curriculum for biology and science courses. This curriculum is designed to improve science skills and increase awareness of breast cancer among high school students. Through age-appropriate activities, students develop problem-solving and decision making skills, apply their knowledge of biology, expand their understanding of genetics and explore relationships between science and technology. This program has premiered throughout New Jersey in over thirty-four districts representing the state's broad cultural and socio-economic diversity as well as pilot tested in South Carolina. During the summer of 2011, a BioCONNECT camp was held for high schools students to highlight various biomedical careers for high school students. Several professions were represented including physicians, nurses, genetic counselors, researchers in behavioral medicine and epidemiology, and social work.
- Women continue to be enrolled in a research database through the LIFE Center (with over 2,000 women enrolled). Results of this research include the identification of several genetic contributors to risk for early onset breast cancer as well as genetic contributors to poor prognosis of breast cancer. This has led to four research grants (Breast Cancer Research Foundation, Department of Defense, New Jersey Commission on Cancer Research, and NIH/NCI), numerous presentations at national meetings, and publications in prestigious peer-reviewed journals.
