Long Island Index 2012

December 2010-November 2011

The Long Island Index 2012 is a compilation of indicators (measurements over time) of our economic, social and environmental well-being that report on how Long Island is faring as a region. These indicators identify and track community conditions and measure progress toward shared goals. Additionally a Special Analysis report was produced this year that focuses on Long Island's potential to become an innovation powerhouse. The report, Long Island Innovation Index as well as an accompanying infographic and video were produced to help the general public understand the issues that the region must address if we are going to successfully make use of our significant assets.

Additionally a new report, Long Island Index Profile Report 2012, was produced which summarizes our indicators and tells the story of Long Island today—our key issues and where we are heading. This is an update on the original Long Island Profile report written in 2003.

Other major projects were undertaken in this fiscal year.

- (1) We developed a new website, www.buildabetterburb.org that explores how Long Island might redesign its local downtowns to create greater density, build more affordable homes, attract and keep young people, encourage businesses to locate here. The site was launched in the fall 2011. Four key issues are explored on the website: Housing Reinvented, Thinking Regionally, Rethinking Transit and Creating a Sense of Place. The site has a series of articles with strong photographs to visually explain each idea, architectural images from other successful downtown revitalization efforts across the country, submissions from the design competition we ran last year, articles about how to translate these ideas into concrete zoning changes for a communities, and many, many links to other sites and news outlets with articles on related topics.
- (2) We have often written about the degree to which Long Island is a fragmented region. This year we spent considerable time and effort gathering the details about the special districts that exist on Long Island. Gathering data from the county and the individual towns and cities, we have documented the service providers for seven key areas: police, fire, schools, libraries, sewers, water, and garbage collection. We are currently in the process of loading the data into our interactive maps (www.longislandindexmaps.org) and we plan to launch the information for Nassau County and some of Suffolk County in February 2012.
- (3) A series of infographics developed from the data collected by the Long Island Index were published twice monthly in the Long Island Business News to educate business and nonprofit leaders on the issues that are impacting the region.

The Long Island Index incorporates best practices from other successful indicator projects across the country. An Advisory Committee comprised of leaders from the business, labor, education, civic and nonprofit communities developed a framework of desired goals for the region. Working together with a Technical Committee with expertise in Long Island's demographics, economy, education, health and transportation, indicators were created to track the region's progress towards these goals.

The hypothesis of the Long Island Index is that "Good information presented in a neutral manner can help shape policy." This annual tool is used by business, labor, education, civic, nonprofit and government entities to inform their decisions about how to improve the quality of life for all Long Islanders. The Long Island Index also serves as a catalyst to improve regional outcomes by encouraging discussion and debate that lead to action.

Promoting Regional Growth

The Foundation supported two major efforts focused on stimulating economic development and regional growth on Long Island.

- 1) The Foundation provided strategic and administrative support for the development of Accelerate Long Island, an initiative modeled after similar efforts in San Diego and Silicon Valley, to bring together leaders of Long Island's most prestigious research institutions and high profile business and civic leaders in order to stimulate regional economic development and growth.

Participants involved in Accelerate Long Island:

Sam Aronson, Director, Brookhaven National Lab
David Calone, Director, Long Island Angel Network
Bob Catell, Advanced Energy Center, Stony Brook University
Walter Copan, Director of Technology Commercialization, Brookhaven National Lab
Michael Dowling, President North Shore-LIJ
Mark Fasciano, Local Entrepreneur
Robert Gordon, Director, Business Management Office US Department of Energy, BNL
John Kominicki, Publisher, Long Island Business News
Kevin Law, President and CEO LIPA, Incoming President of LIA
Jeff Leventhal, CEO, Worldmarket.com
Andrea Lohneiss, Regional Director, Empire Development Corporation
Kirk Manogue, North Shore-LIJ Feinstein Institute
John Marburger, Vice President for Research, Stony Brook University
Stuart Rabinovitz, President, Hofstra University
Ann-Marie Scheidt, Director of Economic Development Stony Brook University
Yacov Shamash, Vice President for Economic Development, Stony Brook University
James Simons, Renaissance Technology
Larry Smith, Dean, Hofstra Medical School
Tad Smith, President, Cablevision
Sam Stanley, President, Stony Brook University
Bruce Stillman, President, Cold Spring Harbor Labs
Gerald Stokes, Associate Director, Global, and Regional Solutions, Brookhaven National Lab
Charles Strain, Managing Partner, Farrell Fritz
Kevin Tracey, Director, Feinstein Institute

- 2) The Foundation provided consultation and strategic advising to civic leaders and local governments on best practices in transit oriented development and the redevelopment of downtown areas with a particular focus on Hempstead and Ronkonkoma where current planning is in process.

Total expenses for direct charitable expenses in FY 2011 = $655,189.
