	Public Interest Registry's (PIR) primary activity is to maintain the .ORG domain registry as the exemplary top level domain (TLD) registry service, by advocating for higher standards of Internet security, safety and reliability. PIR's mission is to facilitate the effective use of a global Internet among non-commercial and other Internet users worldwide. PIR is committed to supporting ISOC's goals of encouraging the evolution of the internet as a research, education and communication infrastructure equally accessible to the global Non-commercial, NGO and non-profit community. PIR's activities also include funding educational programs focused on expanding the knowledge and ability of non-commercial, NGO and non-profit organizations located in technologically deprived areas of the world to more efficiently and effectively use the internet as a tool to better accomplish their important mission. Additionally, in 2011 PIR initiated activity responding to the Internet Corporation for Assigned Names and Numbers (ICANN) initiative to expand the number of generic TLDs available in the internet in an effort to increase competition, enhance consumer choice, and enable innovation. PIR engaged in extensive conversations with members of the global NGO community about their interest in and support for a unique .NGO domain. The outreach effort was designed to seek better understanding of what the NGO community would look for in a new .NGO domain and to help develop the ECONOMIC JUSTIFICATION for building such a domain. In addition, PIR explored the option to offer multiple Internationalized Domain Name (IDN) versions of .ORG in a variety of languages. Such preparatory work was essential in assessing the level of interest in these new domains as well as preparing for the development of detailed applications to ICANN, targeted for submission in April 2012. PIR has established a resource center on its various websites and launched targeted educational campaigns to make available documents and applications such as marketing tools, white papers and FAQ's on internet topics such as social media networking and internationalized domain names (IDN's). In addition, PIR, since its founding, has been an active supporter of the Non-Commercial Users Constituency (NCUC) within ICANN. The NCUC represents the views of non-commercial, NGO and nonprofit organizations. PIR provides webinars and forums for educational purposes within the scope of the registry industry, such as the Org Forum and DNSSEC webinars. Managing the .ORG registry includes making sure our community has a voice in critical issues related to internet policies and procedures. To effectively represent specific and collective interests, .ORG relies on the insight and knowledge of its Advisory Council, Board of Directors and registrars. Working with the ICANN, the Internet Society (ISOC), technical engineers and various Internet leaders around the world, PIR initiates, supports and funds internet enhancements that meet the needs and goals of .ORG customers. .ORG is used by individuals, organizations and companies to educate, mobilize and empower their communities. See additional information about PIR's activities on the PIR website at PIR.ORG.

FIN 48 (ASC) 740 FOOTNOTE	SCHEDULE D, PART X, LINE 2	PIR is exempt from federal income taxes under section 501(c) (3) of the Internal Revenue Code. No taxable unrelated business income was generated and, accordingly, no provision for income taxes has been made in the accompanying financial statements. PIR follows the accounting guidance that creates a single model to address uncertainty in tax positions and clarifies the accounting for income taxes by prescribing the minimum recognition threshold a tax position is required to meet before being recognized in its financial statements. Under the requirements of this guidance, organizations could now be required to record an obligation as the result of tax positions they have historically taken on various tax exposure items.

Form 990, Part VII, Section B, Comp of Five Highest Paid Ind Contractors		Afilias LTD (Afilias) provides registry technical services to PIR including electronic connection to customers (registrars), to add, modify or delete domain names within the Org database. These services include 24/7, 365 days a year, technical support to Registrars, development of registry computer software systems including customer billing, and revenue recognition in accordance with Generally Accepted Accounting Principles, (GAAP). In addition, Afilias provides technical support in implementing PIR's domain name abuse policies designed to stop or reduce malware, virus or other activities. Also, Afilias collaborates with PIR on the analysis and discussion of customer and business trends both domestically and internationally. Starting in 2009, PIR commissioned a consultant to determine if the proposed contract extension in discussion with Afilias represented a Fair Market Price. The consultant concluded that the fees paid to Afilias under the proposed extension were a Fair Market Price. The study was extensive and compared the proposed fees for the services to be rendered to other similar registries that had at least 3 million domain names under management. In early 2012, PIR's board initiated an internal update of this study, and again compared the fee structure, including fees that would accrue to Afilias as a result of a price increase for domain names. PIR found that the fees paid to Afilias would still be within the range of Fair Market Value for the services rendered.
