	The Delaware Museum of Natural History (DMNH) opened its doors to the public in 1972 to excite and inform people about the natural world through exploration and discovery. As the only natural history museum in the state, DMNH welcomed 74,510 visitors in 2011 to experience an African watering hole, gaze up at a Giant Squid, encounter a jaguar face-to-face, and marvel at the diversity of shells from around the globe. Gallery highlights also include the only permanent dinosaur collection in Delaware, a simulated coral reef, and a Science in Action paleontology lab. Throughout the year DMNH also hosts several special exhibits on national tour (See Schedule O for Continuation of Program Service Accomplishments). Museum researchers maintain DMNH's expansive collections of mollusks and birds, including the second-largest collection of birds' eggs in North America. Scientists from around the world visit the Museum to study specimens and request loans to assist them further in their research. The interactive Nature Nook features hands-on science activities geared to meet the needs of the Museum's youngest guests. Educational programs include summer camp, school tours, community outreach visits, home school classes, scout activities, and other programs. In addition, visitors can view nature films in the DuPont Auditorium, shop in the Museum Store, enjoy the Butterfly Garden, or hike along the Larry Scott Nature Trail. As a non-profit institution, DMNH relies on the generosity of members, donors, and corporate sponsors to sustain high-quality exhibits and educational programs for the community.

Identifier	Return Reference	Explanation
	Part III, Line 1a	The Museum does not capitalize donated collection items or recognize them as revenues or gains. Purchases of collection items are recorded as decreases in unrestricted net assets in the year in which the items are acquired or as decreases in temporarily restricted net assets if the assets used to purchase the items are restricted by donors. Proceeds from de-accessions or insurance recoveries are reflected as increases in the appropriate net asset class and must be used to acquire other collection items.
	Part III, Line 4	The collections are held for public exhibition, education, or research in furtherance of public service rather than financial gain. They are protected, kept unencumbered, cared for, and preserved, and are subject to a policy that requires the proceeds from sales of collection items to be used to acquire other items for collections. The Museum's collections include statues, bird, mollusk, mammal, mineral, and bird egg specimens, art, and books.
Description of Intended Use of Endowment Funds	Part V, Line 4	The Museum's Board of Trustees has designated the use of investments for selected transactions in Museum operations. Under the Board's direction, certain donations received since 1980 which were invested under trust arrangements will remain intact, however, the Museum does not consider these Board-designated endowments. Net proceeds from sales of donated land are similarly designated. Investment earnings and gains or losses from investment transactions are made available by the Board, at its discretion, for use in the Museum's operations. None of the invested contributions have been restricted as to their use by the donors. The investments are accounted for as unrestricted board designated net assets.
Description of Uncertain Tax Positions Under FIN 48	Part X	The Museum, a publicly supported non-profit organization, is exempt from federal income tax under Code Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code. The Museum has adopted the provision of FASB Interpretation No. 48 (FASB ASC 740-10-50), Accounting for Uncertainty in Income Taxes. Management continually evaluates uncertain tax positions and expiring statutes of limitations, audits, proposed settlements, changes in tax law and new authoritative rulings, as applicable. Management's evaluation is that there is no income tax liability. This evaluation is based on settled and established positions within the Internal Revenue Code and management believes there is no significant uncertainty related to its evaluation. The Museum's policy is to expense all interest and penalties, if any, as incurred. No amounts of interest or penalties were recognized by the Museum during the year ended December 31, 2011. No tax years prior to 2008 remain subject to examination by federal jurisdictions.

This successful program is maintained with the generous support of area corporate partners. In 2011, 8,262 children in schools and community organizations demonstrating dire financial need were able to visit the Museum or participate in an outreach program for free, with funding from the DMNH Scholarship Program. The Museum provides classrooms with materials and activities to create a science center as well as themed boxes to support the curriculum currently in use by the schools and to create an outdoor learning environment for use year-round. The Museum also provides training sessions for teachers to show how teachers can encourage children to look and observe, ask questions, explore topics with their senses and simple tools, and share with their teachers, classmates, and parents their own explanations about what they see in the world around them (both verbally and through hands-on projects).	4	86,063		COST OF STAFF TIME AND MATERIALS
