Educational program 2011 was the first full year of educational programs for children in the new shedra (school) building complex

The school is located in the remote, very low income Surmang Valley in an ethnically Tibetan region of Qinghai province, China

Because of space limitations, programs were also held in related offsite locations. Schooling is provided seven days per week for between nine and ten months of the year. This is an area of very high illiteracy and education focuses on basics, including reading and writing. The number of children participating during the course of the year cycled between 180 and 300 children. All of the participating children are from very low income families. Two meals per day were served to participating children, who ranged in age from 5-15. Total expenses $56,447

Statement #1 Page 2 Part III Primary Exempt Purpose

To provide educational support and to protect and promote the religious freedom of the Eastern Tibetan province of China

Statement #3 Part III line 28

School Construction. The Surmang shedra (school) building complex is structurally complete and much of it is in use, however finishing work and furnishings continue. The complex is about 25,000 square feet. The school is locally managed and administered. Total expenses $12,016

Statement #4 Part III line 28

Short-term relief project. In April 2010, a devastating earthquake struck an ethnically Tibetan region of Qinghai province, China where the foundation has already been providing support for educational and other charitable activities. Approximately 3,000 people were killed and 20,000 injured in the city of Jyekundo (Yushu), the closest city to Surmang monastery. Although most emergency relief support was concluded in 2010, some additional support was provided for earthquake orphans and others left destitute by the earthquake. Total expenses $11,996
