In addition to requiring an annual disclosure statement from each director, the entity imposes a duty to disclose on all members of the board, even where a potential conflict might exist. Once aired, the potential conflict is examined by all directors and if they decide that one exists, the interested party may not take a role in any vote pertaining to the area of conflict. In addition, the chair, where appropriate will investigate alternatives to a proposed transaction where a conflict exists and the board take efforts to find a more advantageous transaction that would not give rise to conflict.

If a member fails to disclose a conflict, the board allows the member an opportunity to explain the failure and after investigation, the board determines appropriate corrective action for the transaction and disciplinary action for the director.

DESCRIPTION OF PROCESS FOR DETERMINING COMPENSATION

FORM 990, PAGE 6, PART VI, LINE 15b

Reasonable compensation shall be determined by the Board of Directors or a committee designated for that purpose. Reasonable compensation is defined as the amount that would ordinarily be paid for similar services by comparable enterprises under like circumstances. Items to consider include compensation paid by other employers, availability of services, compensation surveys, actual job offers, competitive bidding data and total of all compensation. The Board is responsible to review this policy on an annual basis.
