World Citizen promotes the following outstanding programs: Peace Education Networking Sessions, International Peace Sites, an online course for credit through Hamline University, and we support Augsburg College in providing opportunities for youth at the Nobel Peace Prize Forum. These programs focus on empowering the education community to promote a just and peaceful world. The Peace Education Program continues to expand by 20-25 participants annually. Since the beginning of the program, 259 educators from 99 schools and 1 church have participated in the World Citizen Peace Education Program since 2003. During the ten years of Peace Education opportunities more than 66,000 students have been positively impacted by what educators bring back to their school and church communities. Six trained facilitators assumed the full time leadership role for all sessions in 2011-2012 as well as facilitating the online course. The International Peace Site Program continues to grow each year. World Citizen has supported many new Peace Sites as well as those that have rededicated this past year. New sites and rededications include schools, homes, and many other places of business, government and worship. There are more than 200 Peace Sites in Minnesota and approximately 450 worldwide. This past year Augsburg College provided opportunities for over a thousand youth to participate in the Nobel Peace Prize Forum. Displays, musical performances, and lectures allowed youth a way to learn about the Nobel Peace Prize Laureates. World Citizen reached beyond school walls this year to educate an entire community by featuring an outstanding speaker, Jamie Nabozny, on "Bullying". This event was open to all ages in all communities in Minnesota. Many website upgrades made this past year will accommodate worldwide contact and sharing while increasing social network capabilities. This continues to provide the opportunity for contact with more individuals and organizations who share the same passion as World Citizen for a "just and peaceful world".
