Identifier	Return Reference	Explanation
	Part III, Line 4	The majority of the University art collection includes a significant body of work from the renowned German painter, Oscar Bluemner. This portion of the collection was valued at $2,621,000 at the time it was gifted to the university in 2000. Additional works from various artists, including several paintings and sculpture, have been gifted to the University's collections over the years. These works, along with the art contributed by Stetson students, are currently housed in the Hand Art Center, where both the Stetson community and the public may study and enjoy them. The Gillespie Museum of Minerals is Stetson University's earth science collection museum. The museum's collection of 20,000 mineral, rock, and fossil specimens is valued at $402,431. The museum has developed over the past fifty years into a center for environmental education. Exhibits and displays include geology, native Florida ecosystems and plant landscapes, minerals and mining, and fluorescent rocks.
Description of Intended Use of Endowment Funds	Part V, Line 4	The University endowment funds are used primarily for the benefit of students, faculty support, program support and facilities. The majority of endowment funds go to support student scholarships, including awards for merit, athletic participation and financial need. Endowment funds support several faculty chair positions, as well as general faculty salaries and benefits. Several university programs, such as the George investment program and the Hollis renaissance program are fully supported by endowments. Additionally, the endowment provides facilities maintenance and support for existing institutional buildings and dormitories.
Description of Uncertain Tax Positions Under FIN 48	Part X	The University is recognized as exempt from federal income taxes and accordingly the financial statements do not reflect a provision for income taxes. The current auditor deemed that no footnote disclosure was necessary.
