4a (Code:) (Expenses $ 10,584,094 including grants of $) (Revenue $ 13,774,747)

Through a contract with the California Public Utilities Commission (CPUC), CCAF provided specialized telecommunications equipment to over 27,500 new deaf and disabled consumers through oversight of a centralized call center, which received over 184,000 calls annually. CCAF also provided specialized equipment to over 27,400 consumers in their homes or in nine Service Centers throughout California. Through its contract with the CPUC, CCAF also managed contracts with the California Relay Services vendors, who relayed 3,316,000 calls to and from deaf, hard of hearing, and speech disabled users.

4b (Code:) (Expenses $ 1,084,391 including grants of $ 1,084,486) (Revenue $ 0)

CCAF continued its program of giving grants to non-profit organizations for furthering CCAF's mission. CCAF's Board of Directors fully approved the granting of cash to 501(c)(3) organizations with projects in California to improve access to communications for people with disabilities and seniors. CCAF sought applications from 560 non-profit organizations in California who developed projects to improve access to communications for under-served groups through providing technology and services. During this fiscal year, CCAF's Board of Directors reviewed the applications and ultimately funded 28 organizations to implement their projects. The funded organizations had all set goals at the beginning of their projects to serve a specific number of consumers, and/or provide a specific number of assistive technology devices to consumers depending on what each of their projects required. Also, CCAF hosted a meeting for the Grantees to share projects and achievements with each other, which served as a further information resource. CCAF looks forward to offer more grants, and add to this pool of information and resources throughout the state to serve people with communication needs.

Generally Accepted Accounting Principles (GAAP) provides accounting and disclosure guidance about positions taken by an organization in its tax returns that might be uncertain. Management has considered its tax positions and believes that all of the positions taken by CCAF in its federal and state exempt organization tax returns are more likely than not to be sustained upon examination. CCAF's returns are subject to examination by federal and state taxing authorities, generally for three or four years, respectively, after they are filed.

Form 990, Part VI, Section B. 12c - CCAF's conflict of Interest and Disclosure Policy is based on the non-allowed activities and disclosures required in California Form 700, Statement of Economic Interests, which is completed by all directors, officers, and managers annually. All directors, officers, and managers are required to refrain from activities with any program vendors or contractors which would create a real or perceived conflict of interest, and to annually disclose any relationships, financial or other, with any program or vendors which could influence the employee's work activities. The disclosure and reporting forms are reviewed by the CEO and provided to the State of California, with copies of all forms maintained by the organization. With respect to CCAF's grant program, if there is a conflict of interest or perceived conflict of interest with a grant application, the director recuses himself or herself from the review of the application as well as the vote for approval of the grant application.

Form 990, Part VI, Section B 15a & b and Part VII. - CCAF uses an independent compensation firm to set the compensation for all employees including all management. The independent compensation firm reviews current job descriptions and compares them to similar positions in similar California-based organizations to determine a market-based compensation range. The compensation benchmarking is performed every 3 to 5 years for the entire organization, and more frequently for selected positions as necessary. In 2011, CCAF's Board of Directors hired a separate compensation consultant to review the total compensation of CCAF's four executive managers and to compare the compensation to appropriate benchmarks. Based on the consultant's report, the Board of Directors approved new compensation levels in 2011 for CCAF's four executive managers Form 990, Part VI, Section C. 19 - CCAF makes its Form 990 and Form 1023 available to the public upon request.
