990EZ 2011 Part I. EXPENSES line 16. Includes: bank charge fees of $163 for donors using PayPal and credit cards to submit contributions.

Our fund raising includes direct expenses of $3,395 for catering costs and $1,715 in gift-in-kind.

990EZ 2011 Part III. PROGRAM: Gulu Secondary Student Project supports twelve students' tuition, room and board, supplies, transportation, in-school and visiting mentoring for our students. In compliance with a board motion, Children UP has placed in reserve six years of money for each student to ensure all have the finances needed to complete coursework under the presumption that each student continues to receive funds. For their part, our six young women and six young men are working diligently to gain the education they crave. See Schedule O page 2 for a complete explanation of the Gulu Secondary Student Project.

990EZ 2011 Part IV. All directors and board members can be reached through the office of Children UP: 481 Alma, Elmhurst, IL 60126.

All directors/board members donate their time, skills and resources to Children UP. There is no salary or office expense in the U.S.

990EZ 2011 Part III. PROGRAM: Uganda is one of the poorest nations in the world with 37.7% of the population living on less than $1.25 a day. Although widespread, poverty is most deeply-rooted in the country's rural areas, and most especially in communities of northern Uganda, which have recently emerged from a brutal twenty year war. Over 90% of that population was forced into IDP camps during the war, causing extensive social upheaval. Without access to their land they were not able to maintain their livelihoods as farmers. Since the IDP camps started to empty in 2007 the people of northern Uganda have begun working to rebuild their lives. It has been a struggle.

Children UP focuses its attention on the children living in these rural communities of northern Uganda. In particular we support secondary students through scholarships and mentor support. While primary education is more available, only 36% of sub-Saharan students are enrolled in secondary schools; families simply cannot afford the fees.

Our task is simple. We are committed to supporting the education of students with ability but who do not have the means to pay.

Children UP's financial assistance is not an impersonal, one-time endeavor. It is a multifaceted support system that works to meet each student's unique needs. Children UP works with each student, family, teachers and mentors to build an positive educational experience.

In general, our students are doing exceptionally well. When asked about his experience in school, one of our young men declared that being in school has "whetted my appetite for learning."

At present we are supporting twelve secondary students, six young men and six young women. We are encouraged by their successes and look forward to the first group of students graduating with their Ordinary Level degrees in 2013. Once students have completed their studies, it is our hope that these students will not only be self-supporting, but will be productive leaders in their families and communities. The first student we supported is doing just that. She is currently enrolled in a Masters program at Makerere University while also managing forestry projects which allow her to pay school fees for five members of her extended family. Her life embodies her cultural values and models our mission statement by "building the spirit of Uganda from the children up."

The primary impact of Children UP is directed to Uganda, yet our fund raising has an educational impact in the United States. Through newsletters, presentations, social media and personal communications, we have raised the consciousness of our supporters regarding Uganda – its history, culture, and political situation, as well as its needs. Since we have an ongoing relationship with our students, their families and the mentors, we can pass on information about how the donor's dollars are working in a very personal way. That personal connection has made the gift a more meaningful one, both to the donor and to the student.

The Children UP board volunteers its time, skills and resources for this endeavor. Donors know their contributions go to the students in northern Uganda.
