	Shelter Program The purpose of Casa de Misericordia (Casa) domestic violence program is to provide a safe and secure environment in which victims of domestic violence can access the best of services in order to make informed decisions about their future. Casa de Misericordia offers 24-hour-a-day full service shelter and 24-hour-a-day crisis telephone hotlines. Casa provides advocacy and intervention services, safety planning, counseling and support groups, information and referral services, legal and immigration advocacy, and transportation. Casa also provides child centered activities. These activities include counseling, music classes, tutoring, summer camps, primary prevention and anti-bullying presentations for children, and projects for teenagers in which they can learn about teen dating violence, the appropriate uses of technology and how to use technology to communicate ones message. In fiscal year 2012, Casa provided residential services to 277 adults and 515 children for a total of 8369 shelter days. The shelter program also provided 2995 counseling hours to an average of 97 adult victims per month. During this same period, Casa provided 30 court Accompaniments, distributed 1070 adult bus tickets and 412 childrens bus tickets, and provided music classes to 224 attendees and tutoring to 120 attendees. All of these services are important in that they not only provide safety and security for victims of domestic violence but also because they break down barriers for victims and help them develop coping skills, self-esteem, knowledge of community resources and support networks.

	Education Center The purpose of the Education Center program is two-fold. The first is to empower women and children to develop the knowledge, skills and resources needed to live a life free from violence. The second is to provide opportunities for community education in which the community can learn about domestic violence, its effects and how the community plays a role in ending domestic violence. The Education Center provides a number of classes, some of which are offered at different levels of proficiency, aimed at helping victims of domestic violence become self-sufficient. Casa works with Laredo Community College, the Mexican Consulate, and individuals from the community to provide instructors and materials for each class. In fiscal year 2012, Casa provided beauty, computer, English as a Second Language, sewing, Primaria/Secundaria, aerobics, and pre-GED classes. Through the educational and life skills classes survivors of domestic violence are able to gain the skills needed to establish or supplement an income needed to attain financial independence. A total of 227 attendees participated in the beauty classes, 409 in the computer classes, 1522 in ESL classes, 744 in sewing classes, 74 in Primaria/Secundaria classes, 403 in aerobics classes, 37 in finance classes, 96 in parenting classes, and 286 in pre-GED classes. Through the Education Center, Casa provides many opportunities for community education. The Education Center both hosts different events in which the community comes to the center to learn more about domestic violence and goes out into the community to provide presentations. Casa has provided presentations to different businesses, schools, social service and government agencies, and social and community organizations about domestic violence, its effects, and how the community can support and respond to the needs of victims of domestic violence. In fiscal year 2012, Casa provided 217 community presentations to 8,266 attendees, 40 television interviews and/or public service announcements, 11 radio interviews, and 19 newspaper interviews/articles. Casa is committed to working with community collaborators. The coalition also facilitates an annual conference that brings together law enforcement, advocacy and health professionals, and those who work in the field of education to learn and discuss the issues surrounding domestic violence.
