Part III, Section A & Section B

While gathering information to prepare the 2012 990, we noted some inconsistencies in previously filed returns. After extensive research into these inconsistencies using source documentation of pledges and contributions, we determined it necessary to restate the supporting schedule to more accurately reflect public support. The key factors which lead to this restatement determination were:

1.) a misinterpretation of "unusual grants" as defined by Schedule A instructions. In previous returns, some gifts were treated as unusual grants due merely to the amount of the gift. Further research proved that these gifts were not large enough to endanger the organization's public support status and were also not unusual nor unexpected in nature. This misinterpretation lead to an understatement of contributions.

2.) a failure to adjust the schedule from cash-basis (effective through the end of 2009) to accrual-basis (beginning in 2010).

3.) a misinterpretation of "disqualified person" as defined in Appendix A of the IRS 990 Instructions. In previous returns, some gifts were treated as individual donor gifts and where then coded as from disqualified persons. Further research proved that these gifts were disbursed from a 501(c)(3) publicly supported, community foundation maintaining donor-advised funds. They should, therefore, not have been reported as gifts from individuals, let alone as gifts from disqualified persons. This misinterpretation lead to an overstatement of amounts received from disqualified persons.

4.) in establishing the 2% threshold for determining if a person qualifies as a substantial contributor, only individual gifts greater than $5,000 were used in the calculation. Under section 4946, the determination calculation states that the threshold amount "is more than 2% of the total contributions the organization received from its inception through the end of the year in which the contributions were received." Limiting the total contribution figure to those only over $5,000 reduces the threshold figure thereby increasing the amount of persons qualifying as substantial contributors and overstating the amounts received from disqualified persons.

Starting in 2012, we revamped our fund raising processes to ensure more accurate and consistent accounting of contributions and we eliminated external preparation of our tax returns, both in an effort to ensure accuracy and transparency with all contributions.

Part III, Section A, line 1:

Gifts, grants and contributions includes new pledges accrued during the listed year, unrestricted cash contributions recorded as income during the listed year and temporarily restricted cash contributions recorded as net assets in the year received. As a result of including the balance sheet component contributions, line 1 will not match the amount reported under IRS 990, Part I, line 8.
