During 2012, GR provided full scholarships to over 120 students to attend Rwandan universities. A GR scholarship award includes university tuition, housing, a monthly living stipend, books & healthcare. Students also receive extensive extracurricular language and computer skills training, as well as other training programs. GR has developed a pioneering internship program to enable students to acquire meaningful employment experience prior to graduation.

GR students are selected through a highly competitive process that evaluates secondary school grades, performance on the national university entrance exams, relative proficiency in English and French (the languages of instruction), a written essay, and personal attributes. GR's support enables these talented but needy students to attend university and develop the skills needed to become future leaders in their society.

GR students have a 98% graduation rate, and over 97% have succeeded in finding long-term employment after graduation.

Grants to and expenditures on behalf of university scholarship recipients are monitored continuously by GR's Rwanda staff. GR's Executive Director is in regular touch with the Rwanda office, monitors expenses against budget on a monthly basis, and visits Rwanda at least twice a year. An in-country audit is performed each year by the Rwanda office of a major international accounting firm.

Direct grants on behalf of students comprise (1) tuition payments paid directly to the university at which a student is enrolled, (2) GR-provided housing (rent paid directly to the landlord), and (3) a monthly living stipend paid to each student. Other student-related costs include healthcare, eye care, books, extracurricular training in English, computer skills and life skills, jobs counseling and internship placements Accounting is performed on the accrual method. Expenses are recorded and reported at cost.
