Part II, Question 13 – Description of Trade or Business

The Segerstrom Foundation is a private foundation that was created to provide support primarily for performing and cultural arts organizations in Orange County, California.

Part IV, Question 25 – Computation of Section 481(a) Adjustment

The applicant has changed its overall method of accounting used to regularly compute its income in keeping its books and records to the accrual method. The accrual method more clearly reflects its income and provides better information to assist management in achieving the organization's goals and objectives.

Under the applicant's proposed method of accounting and consistent with the overall accrual method of accounting, revenues are recorded as assets or receivables are exchanged, and expenses are recorded as liabilities are incurred.

The section 481(a) adjustment was computed by increasing income for receivables (revenue that has been earned, but not received) and by decreasing income for accrued expenses (items that have not yet been paid, but have been incurred). As of the beginning of the tax year, the applicant earned $14,616 of revenue that had not been received. Therefore an adjustment for receivables is $14,616.

Receivables	$14,616
Accrued expenses	($24,850)
481(a) – decrease to income	($10,234)

Schedule A, Part I, Question 2 – Description of Items Subject to the Recurring Item Exception

The item subject to the recurring item exception under section 461(h)(3) is tax expense.

Schedule A, Part I, Question 3 – Copies of Profit and Loss Statement and Balance Sheet

The profit and loss statement and the balance sheet for the tax year preceding the year of change are attached. The cash method of accounting as originally prepared and the accrual method of accounting as restated after the change to the accrual method of accounting are both reflected on the attached profit and loss statement and balance sheet.
