Membership The Women's Energy Network of Houston was founded in 1994 with the purpose of fostering the development and advancement of women in energy by developing a strong network. After years of being the sole woman involved in energy transactions, Women's Energy Network's founder believed that many women energy professionals were in the same position, but unable to connect with each other. Years later, the Women's Energy Network remains committed to providing high caliber events and networking to its diverse membership from across the energy value chain. WEN Houston also sponsors new chapters and retains some of the membership fees for support.

Women's Energy Network is based on the model of the premier women's leadership development program, Leadership Texas, which focuses on networking, education, and community. This includes all Houston area luncheons (energy corridor, downtown, and north side), webinars, and special events such as wine tasting, networking event, fashion events, etc.

Grantmaker's Description of How Grants are Used		WEN awards five scholarships each year to five graduating senior girls who demonstrate an exemplary academic record and leadership skills. Scholarship candidates submit an application, including an essay where the applicants express their views on a current issue or event in the energy industry. These applications are reviewed by a scholarship selection committee who decide the recipients based on the students academic record, leadership initiatives, and quality of their essay. Each of the five scholarship award winners is granted a scholarship of $2,000. The scholarship amount is held by WEN until the recipient begins college, which should be the Fall following the year the scholarship was awarded. Each recipient is required to show proof of registration at their selected college. The award money of $2,000 each is sent directly to the school financial office, in the students name, to ensure it is used for its intended purpose of financial support for college. The scholarship application process is open to all senior high school women in the greater Houston area and is also advertised on the WEN website.
